INTRODUCTION.

The following edition of the Śrī-Kṛṣṇâvatāra-līlā is based on a single manuscript procured by me some thirty years ago in Kashmīr. The poem is a great favourite with the Hindūs of the Happy Valley, who often may be heard quoting stray verses from it, but the manuscript that then came into my possession is the only complete copy that I have seen. What is published therefore in no way pretends to be a critical edition of the text, but is offered merely as a good specimen of the comparatively little-known Kāshmīrī language, and, as such, I hope it will find acceptance.

It is well known that till, at the end of the last century, Iśvara Kaula laid down in his Kaśmīra-sabdâmrta a fixed norm for spelling Kāshmīrī words, the spelling of Kāshmīrī manuscripts written in the Nāgarī or Śāradā character was totally without system. This was the case with my original MS. of the poem, and I therefore employed the late Mahāmahôpâdhyāya Mukunda-rāma Śāstrī to copy it out for me in Isvara Kaula's system of spelling, and, at the same time to prepare in Sanskrit a Chāyā, or word for word commentary, of the whole. This Chāyā, besides enabling me to check the text, and to see that, at least, it contains no blunders and is a good specimen of correct Kāshmiri, has been of great help to me in translating the poem into English. I have transliterated the text into the Roman character, and for this I have followed the system employed by me in my Kashmiri Dictionary, in my Manual of the same language, and in Sir Aurel Stein's and my edition of Hatim's Tales. In the translation, in quoting Sanskrit names, such as "Dēvaki" or "Krsna," I have followed the system of the Royal Asiatic Society.

The work is a life of Kṛṣṇa, based, like the Prēma-sāgara of India, on the tenth Skandha of the Bhāgavata Purāṇa. It closely follows that work both in the general order of the events narrated and in details, and, indeed, some passages are almost translations. In order to aid reference to the older work, in giving the headings to each chapter of the English version, I have added references to the corresponding passages in the Purāṇa.

It is a curious fact that I have never been able to satisfy myself as to the identity of the author of this poem. The colophon of my MS.

gives his name as "Dinanatha," and this is borne out by the author's reference to himself in verse 1172. It is, however, admittedly a pen-name, and his real name is not anywhere disclosed. At the time of purchasing the MS. I was told that he was one Paramananda of Mārtanda, who was said to have died in 1822 A.D. at the age of 68 years. On the other hand, I have since been assured that Paramânanda was not the author of this work, and that he died some thirty years ago for just when I was purchasing the MS.] at the age of about 80, his pen-name being Nanda-rāma. It is possible that there may have been two Paramanandas, for it is manifest that if both the above accounts are correct, they cannot refer to the same person. Another Kāshmīrī friend has lately written to me that the author was Prakāśa-rāma of Kurēgām, in Anantnāg Tahsīl of Kashmīr. He is said to have died about the year 1870, at the age approximately of 65, and to have been the same person as Divâkara-prakāśa Bhatta, the author of the Śrī-rāmâvatāra-carita. On the other hand, I have been assured that this very Divākara-prakāśa Bhatta was alive during the eight years of the reign of the Hindu king Sukhasivana Simha, who came to the throne in 1786 A.D. According to this account, Divākara lived in the Gojawor (Sanskrit Gulikāvātika) quarter of Śrīnagar. In the face of all these mutually inconsistent traditions, it is impossible to make any definite statement regarding the author of the poem, save that his pen-name was Dina-natha. His identification must be left as a task to future enquirers. On the other hand, there can be no doubt as to the high esteem in which the poem is held, or as to its great popularity among the Hindus of Kashmir.

Save for a few irregularities, chiefly due to metrical exigencies, the language of the poem is the ordinary Kāshmīrī of the present day.

The author, for the sake of metre, not uncommonly makes use of an archaism often found in Kāshmīrī poetry. This is the substitution of an ancient \bar{e} for the final i of the modern language. This is here specially common in the case of ni, the oblique form of the termination n^* , but it is also found in the termination zi of the future imperative. Thus, for -ni, we have wuchanē (160), kansāsŏranē (468), dapanē (581), shēranē (585), tsalanē (628), karanē (633), vēṭhanē (659,682), tŏtanē (681), khēnē (1144), and many others. For the future imperative, we have such forms as $h\ddot{o}v^iz\bar{e}$ (1121), for $h\ddot{o}v^izi$, and $mang^iz\bar{e}$ (1122), for $mang^iz\bar{e}$.

It will be remembered that in modern Kāshmīrī, as in Ṣiṇā and the Ghalcah languages, the old present is ordinarily used in the sense of the future. Thus asi (< hasati), means 'he will laugh,' not 'he laughs.' In poetry, the force of the present is sometimes still retained. A number of such cases will be found in verses 968ff., where Kṛṣṇa's actions are described in a series of historical presents.

The past conditional is used as a past habitual in kati bōzihēs (141), how would he hear her? that is to say, he kept disobeying her. I mention this sporadic instance on account of the parallel use of the present participle in India proper, where (as, e.g., in Hindi) it is used both as a past conditional and a past habitual. The same tense is used as an optative in möralī wāyūñū bōzahös, would that I might hear him playing the flute (260); thaph karahas, I would grasp him (596); yimahö, may I come! (704).

Hindūs generally form this tense by adding $h\ddot{o}$ or $h\bar{e}$ to the old present, while Musalmāns prefer to add ha. Thus, a Hindū says $karah\ddot{o}$, while a Musalmān says karaha, for "(if) I had done." The author of the poem was of course a Hindū, and therefore generally used $h\ddot{o}$ or $h\bar{e}$ but in one or two instances, for metrical reasons, we find ha. Thus, he has wuchahas (372), for $wuchah\ddot{o}s$, karahas (596), for $karah\ddot{o}s$, and $\bar{a}sihas$, for $\bar{a}sih\bar{e}s$, in 777.

In Kāshmīrī, the conjunctive participle is used as in Hindī. Thus, hěth drāv, having taken he issued forth, i.e. he took and issued forth, is equivalent to the Hindī lē-kar niklā. Our author is rather fond of inserting a pleonastic ta, meaning "thereupon," between the participle and the main verb. Thus (553) he has hěth ta drāv, as if we were to say in Hindī lē-kar tō niklā. So we have (581) phīrith ta dapanē log*, having returned he began to say, i.e. he began to say in reply; wonukh yith ta (838), having come they said, i.e. they came and said, and many others.

A more directly irregular verbal form is wuchita (201), for wuchita, please to see, in which $i\text{-}m\bar{a}tr\bar{a}$ has apparently been inserted by contamination with the other persons of the tense (wuchitav, wuchitan). Another form not provided for by the grammars is $w\ddot{o}tiha$ (903), have they arrived? The regular interrogative suffix is \bar{a} , so that we should expect $w\ddot{o}ty\bar{a}$ ($w\ddot{o}t^i+\bar{a}$), but here ha is employed instead of \bar{a} . Another is $b\ddot{o}yi$, it will become (1156) instead of the more usual $b\ddot{o}vi$. The grammars give a parallel form, $b\ddot{o}yin$, for the 3rd singular of the Imperative of the same verb.

In ordinary Kāshmīrī, the conjunctive participle is not unoften used with the sense of a past participle passive. Thus, the Rāmāyaṇa, 1253, tells us about a house karith burzuk*, "made of birch bark." With some words the passive signification is the one in most general use. Thus, barith, literally "having filled," is commonly used to mean "filled" or "full." This participle, even when used in its ordinary active sense, occasionally takes the additional suffix -an, which is not mentioned in the grammars. Thus, in the village speech of Hātim's Tales (xi, 10) we have rasad kārithan, for rasad karith, having made proportional division. In our present poem (223), we find a conjunctive participle, used in the sense of the past participle passive, given a similar suffix in wanāh chuh phala-bārith"n (for phala-barith), there is a grove filled with fruit.

In syntax a couple of minor points may be noticed. The post-position $p \not\in th$, on, usually governs the dative, as in $bathis-p \not\in th$, on the river-bank. In 702, we have, however, $both*-p \not\in th$, in which it governs the accusative, (which has the same form as the nominative). This has evidently been so written for the sake of the metre.

The subject of an intransitive verb in a tense formed from one of the past participles is, of course, in the nominative case, while, if the verb is transitive, it is put into the case of the agent. Nevertheless, quite exceptionally, in 745 we have Shëmbari būzith drās. Sambara, having heard, came forth to him. Here, although dras is an intransitive verb, the subject, Shembar, is in the case of the agent, an irregularity for which I am unable to account. We cannot explain Shëmbari as merely an emphatic form of the nominative Shëmbors, for firstly, such a form would make no sense in the passage in which it occurs, and secondly, if an emphatic form, it would not be *Shembari, but Shemboruy. Moreover a Sanskrit commentary on the passage translates it "Śambarēna śrutvā nirgatah." It looks as if we should take būzith as passive, and translate "having been heard by Sambara, he (Sambara) came forth to him," but such a construction would be very awkward, and, so far as my reading goes, without a parallel in Kāshmīrī.

A more important irregularity pervades the whole poem. A cursory examination will show that the first and third lines of each verse throughout end in the syllables $as\ ta$, and that in the great majority of cases ¹ the as is preceded by a short syllable. The ta is generally a mere pleonasm, so that it turns out that in two lines of nearly every verse of the poem this ta must be preceded by a word ending in an iambus $(\smile -)$, of which the last syllable must be as. The number of words in the language (such as wanas, tsarētas, and others), which comply with this requirement would be very few, were it not that the dative singular of every infinitive, or verbal noun in un, ends in anas. Thus, from karun, we have a dative singular karanas; from bozun, bozanas; and from wanun, wananas. This convenient fact gave the author a practically unlimited number of words of the required measure, for such a dative could be formed from any verb in the language. The meaning of the case, however, presented a difficulty, for these dative forms are infinitives of purpose. Karanas means "for doing"; bozanas, "for hearing": and wananas, "for saving." It is manifest that a poet could not employ such a dative twice in every verse of four lines. At the same time, with the verb lagun, this dative may be employed to form an inceptive compound, as in log" bozanas (11), he began to hear. poet has taken advantage of this fact, but usually omits the verb lagun, leaving it to be understood; so that, under these circumstances, by karanas, we must understand log" karanas, he began to do, and, by wananas, log" wananas, he began to say. It will be found that nearly all these infinitive datives can be translated in this way,-logo, or some other form of the verb lagun, being understood. But, in practice, "he began to hear" may be used as equivalent to "he heard"; "he began to do," as equivalent to "he did"; and "he began to say"; as equivalent to "he said." In this way,—as any tense of the verb lagun, past, present, or future, may be looked upon as omitted,—throughout the poem, these infinitive datives may be taken as standing for almost any finite tense of the verb, and translated as relating to any subject in any person and any number, whether acting in past, in present, or in future time.

As in the case of other Kāshmīrī poems, the metre of this work presents difficulties to the student familiar only with Persian or Indian prosody. As pointed out on pp. 144ff. of Dr. Barnett's and my edition of the Lallā-vākyāni, Kāshmīrī metre is usually based on stress rather than on quantity. Apparently in ancient times Indian metres, such as the dōhā, caupāī, and so on, and, in later times, Persian metres, such as the ramal or hazaj, were employed for the composition of Kāshmīrī poetry. But, in Kāshmīrī mouths, these quickly became so distorted, that it is often impossible from their present form to say what was the original metrical foundation. At the present day all attention to quantity, or even to the number of syllables, is abandoned, and stress, and stress only, has become the basis of metre. The quantity of the syllables between each stressed syllable is a matter of small importance, so long as the metrical swing is not disturbed, and for a similar reason, within moderation, the number of syllables allowed between each stress is a variable quantity.

The present poem consists of verses of four lines each, the fourth line of each verse being the same throughout the entire work. As I have heard the verses read, they struck my ear as containing four stresses in each line. Thus, in verse 5, we have:—

rázā Paríkshith ô's" samayēs ta tsákrawart sáriy prúthivīyē pēṭh pútur" rûd"-mot" páta Arzönás ta lágas bŏh dásta dásta pampósh.

Possibly other Europeans may hear a different fall of the stress-accent, for it is never very strong, and varies from verse to verse. The most important stresses are those at the end of each line, which, in fact govern the whole verse. The first and third lines of each verse have throughout feminine endings, i.e. an accented syllable followed by an unaccented, as in $(sama)y\dot{e}s$ ta, $(Arz\delta)n\dot{a}s$ ta, above. If we were using the language of quantitive prosody, we should say that each of these lines ended in a trochee (--). On the other hand, the second and fourth lines of each verse have masculine endings. Each terminates in a single accented syllable, such as $p\dot{e}th$ or $(pam)p\dot{o}sh$.

I propose to deal further with the question of Kāshmīrī metre in my forthcoming edition of the Rāmâvatāra-carita.

I The words 'To him posy and posy,' etc., are repeated at the end of every verse. Henceforth I shall not translate them unless they are necessary to complete the sense, as, for instance, in verse 3.

² As a rule, verses 2 and 3 are repeated at the end of each chapter.

THE LAY OF THE INCARNATE KRSNA.

- I. THE PROMISE OF NARAYANA. (Bhagavata Purana, X, i.)
- 1. To King Vasudeva and to Kṛṣṇa posy on posy do I offer lotuses.
- 2. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 3. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, to him posy on posy do I offer lotuses.²
- 4. Body and heart devote thou to meditation on Viṣṇu; hear thou the cause of Viṣṇu's incarnation, and how from the abode of Viṣṇu Krsna came to birth.
- 5. Once on a time King Parîkṣit was Emperor over all the world. Grandson was he of Arjuna.⁸
- 6. All his life, so long as he was King, in the entire world happiness was of all the lot, for though the Kali Yuga had then made its entrance, no power had it yet.
- 7. Plenteous were virtue and holy acts, and so the Kali Yuga remained concealed, while the glory of the King was ever on the increase.
- 8. When to that King there came the time of his end, he began to hear the Bhāgavata Purāṇa, which Śukadēva, in his graciousness recited to him.

² The name of the 90th hymn of the 10th Mandala of the Rg Vēda. It is

- 9. And Parîkşit asked of Śukadēva, 'Tell me, prithee, how Kṛṣṇa into being came, and wherefore took he incarnation.'
- 10. Then to that King did Śukadēva make reply, 'Victory, Victory be to all thy fortunes,—of thee, devoted to Kṛṣṇa, who art rich in holy longing and in faith.'
- 11. So he began to tell, and he to hear, devoting heart and thought to meditation upon Kṛṣṇa. Victory be to the tale as told by Śukadēva.
- 12. When the Dvapara¹ Yuga came to its end, and the manner of the incipient Kali Yuga took its entrance, wickedness and sin began to multiply.
 - 13. Rākṣasas o'erran the circle of the world, and by their weight began the earth to be distressed. So took she the form of a milch-cow, and to Brahmā did she go.
 - 14. To the Milky Sea, to Nārāyaṇa, did Brahmā go, with himself taking all the other gods and the milch-cow, and to Him he uttered praise.
 - 15. With the Puruṣa-sûkta² did he praise Him. To his supplication did He lend His ear, for to hear such supplications is His wont.
 - 16. Pleased was Narāyaṇa at their words, and with a voice from the ether did he answer them. 'I, Myself, incarnate will become.
 - 17. 'In the house of Vasudēva the King will I take birth, and Māyā, My illusive form, to the home of the Cowherd Nanda shall proceed. Likewise shall all these gods come to the earth.'
 - 18. Brahmā gave forth the order to be born, and forthwith the gods and Māyā came to birth, some as Yādavas, and as cowherds some.

regarded as peculiarly sacred.

³ The Yadavas were the tribe to which Kṛṣṇa belonged.

- 19. Some came to birth as cows, and some as herd-maidens. Some became trees, and others took the form of monkeys; all that Kṛṣṇa might in his incarnation find delights.
- 20. Joyful to her home did the earth return, and there awaited she the time of Kṛṣṇa's incarnation. Blessed were they whose birth in those days happed.
- 21. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Visnu will he reach.
 - II. THE CIRCUMSTANCES ATTENDING THE BIRTH OF ΚŖṢŅA. (Bhāgavata Purāṇa, X, i, 27; ii, iii.)
- 22. The kingdom of Mathurā was Ugrasēna's, and his vile 1 son was Kamsa the Asura, while Dēvakī was his brother's daughter.2
- 23. Of that land was Vasudēva the King, and Ugrasēna was his feudatory. It was to that King that Ugrasēna gave Dēvakī in wedlock.
- 24. When Vasudeva, accompanied by Kings and Chieftains, to the wedding came, the earth herself, full of joy, the festival attended.
- 25. Brahmā and other gods came down to see the happy spectacle, as King Vasudēva ascended to the marriage rite. Wealth beyond count did he give out in gifts.
- 26. He himself was the Saint Kasyapa incarnate, and in Devakt did Aditi take birth, and to become their son did Bhagavan ask their leave.
- 27. Twice before had they taken birth, that the Dwarf and Rāma-candra s might be their sons. Now for the third time (were they incarnate) that Kṛṣṇa might be born of them.

l Jilab is explained in the Comm. by the Sanskrit word kasya, or 'flank.' Here it seems to mean 'bridle.' Cf. the Persian jalav. According to the Bhāg. Pu., Kansa was actually driving the bridal chariot when he heard the voice.

- 28. At dawn did Vasudeva to his home set forth, with Devaki his bride. How great was the dowry of gold and pearls, and of precious stones given to him by them!
- 29. Thousands of elephants, of horse, and of chariots did they give him; thousands of slave-girls in jewelled array apparelled. Kamsa went forth to hold the horse's bridle.
- 30. Then came there to Kamsa a voice from the sky, 'Of these two the son shall be thy death. Through the eighth child will be cut off thy life'
- 31. This voice was but the agent² for his destruction, for great austerities had he performed, and who could prevail against him. Sin did he pile on sin, and by them was his might laid low.
- 32. When to the Asura came this voice, out of great happiness still greater grief befell him. Halting became his feet, and (to meditating) on some precaution did he fall.
- 33. To slay his sister his sword he drew, by her hair grasped he her and felled her from the chariot, as the while Vasudeva the King began him to implore.
- 34. 'O Mighty Hero, it becometh not to slay thy sister. What can be done to (ward off) Fate. Believe not thou that to her offspring will be born.'
- 35. At the entreaty of his sister's husband did he relent, and of slaying the children made he the resolve. But no wisdom is there that can reach the deeds of Fate.
- 36. Into a prison cast he his sister and her spouse, and both securely did he bind with gyves, and all the time, tidings to bring him, over them placed he guards.

² I.e., the first step towards his destruction. It started him on the road, and made him determine to kill Dēvakī's children. The eighth child was Kṛṣṇa, and, in attempting to kill him, Kanisa was destroyed.

¹ Nārada, the minstrel of the gods, was often employed to set people at variance or to lead them into deadly sin.

² Śēṣanāga was a serpent with a thousand heads. He formed the couch of Viṣṇu, and is also said to bear the whole world on his head. He became incarnate

- 37. To Vasudeva was the first son born, and he himself to Kamsa carried it. Quoth he, 'It is becoming that I make my promise true.'
- 38. Nārada came and (to Kamsa) gave forth these words, 'Haply, to the oracle contrariwise, this child may be thy death.' This said he that Kamsa might be plunged more quickly into sin.'
- 39. To his Asura's mind did this thought commend itself, for how could be ken the guile of Nārada. So with his own hand the Asura killed the babe.
- 40. To him did Ugrasēna, his father, make entreaty, but with him too did he become wroth, and him too into prison cast, and thus said he to him, 'His children all and every will I kill.'
- 41. Six times was progeny to Vasudēva born, and each infant did Kanisa forthwith slay. Then at the seventh time did Śēṣanāga² enter Dēvakl's womb.
- 42. Bhagavān then sent forth His illusive power, and from Dēvaki's womb was Haladhara taken and lodged in Rōhiṇi's.
- 43. Verily was he thus incarnate Sēṣanāga, and as a brother and a helper of Kṛṣṇa was he needed. Four months had he lain in the womb of Dēvakī.
- 44. In Nanda's house had Röhini sought refuge; an earlier wife was she of Vasudēva; and Nanda, the Cowherd, was of him the friend.
- 45. In Dēvaki's womb no progeny remained, but in Rōhiṇī there became manifest the signs of pregnancy. Offer thou thyself as a sacrifice to Bhagavān before the ways of Fate!
- 46. When Rōhiṇi's full time was reached that she should bring forth a child, Haladhara (Bala-) Rāma came to birth, and of Śēṣanāga himself was he an incarnation.

as Kṛṣṇa's elder brother, Bala-rēma, also called Hala-dhara, or 'the plough-bearer.' As stated in the following verses he was first conceived by Dēvakī, but, during conception, was transferred to Rōhiṇī's womb. Vasudēva had several other wives besides Dēvakī, and of these Rōhiṇī was one.

¹ Māyā, the principle of illusion, became Yaśōdā's child, while Kṛṣṇa was simultaneously conceived by Dēvakī. As we shall see, the two children were interchanged immediately after birth, so that Kaṃsa killed Māyā under the erroneous impression that he was killing Dēvakī's eighth child. Yaśōdā herself was unaware at the time of the substitution, and at first considered Kṛṣṇa to be her own son.

- 47. A talk there was (and people doubted) how, without a father, a son could be born to her. But Nārada, that holiest of saints, came there to tell. Quoth he, 'Verily hath this come to pass by God's command.'
- 48. Then, into Yaśödā's womb did Māyā come. Now Yaśōdā of the Cowherd Nanda was the spouse, and this coming of Māyā was intended to bring salvation unto him.
- 49. And into Vasudēva's soul, by way of inspiration, entered Bhagavān Himself. The King did he enter shining like the sun.
- 50. And when through him Bhagavān came into the womb of Dēvakī, He Himself was Kṛṣṇa, a very form of Viṣṇu.² Bear ye in mind what (blessed lot) there came unto that king.
- 51. With his beauty was the prison filled with splendour; and trembling entered Kamsa's limbs, for this he knew, 'Kṛṣṇa, my Death. hath come to take his birth.'
- 52. Again did he determine to kill his sister, and again did he debate how a woman he could kill; and thought he. The child that will be born, him will I kill.
- 53. To the prison came the gods, and praise and worship did they begin to offer to Mother Devaki and to Vasudeva.
- 54. (And their song was this). 'The womb of the universe into your womb hath entered. Blessed be ye, and glory to your lot. To Krsna, the protector of the universe, do we make ourselves an offering.'
- 55. When to his illustrious birth came he, a glory like that of suns upon the world did shine, and, like dead men, into a deep sleep fell the Rāksasas.

² The meaning is that, while other incarnations of Visnu were only partial, on this occasion the entire Visnu became incarnate as Kṛṣṇa.

³ According to the Nārada-pañcarātra, x, 76, the mahāpāpīs, or greatest sinners of all, are those who kill Brāhmaņas, Bhikṣus, Yatīs, Brahmacārīs, women, or Vaisnavas.

 - 62. With sweet voice did they extol him, moment after moment rubbing their foreheads on his feet. Reverence be to their predestined lot!

- 73. He said these words, and again the form of a babe He took, and King Vasudeva took Him in his arms, and, lo, the bolts and doors of the gateway open flew.
- 74. On the way there fell a gentle rain, and (beneath his hoods) did Śēṣanāga, the Serpent of Eternity, shelter them. Up mounted the Yamunā to do homage to his feet.
- 75. Vasudēva touched the water with Kṛṣṇa's foot, and a way was opened to him, and safely across the Yamunā he passed. Above and below, of themselves, did the flowing waters halt.

- 76. In Gōkula did King Vasudēva arrive, and with Kṛṣṇa in his arms the homestead of Nanda the cowherd did he enter. Then took he up the girl-babe and home returned.
- 77. As he had departed, so through the gateway of his prison did he return, and, lo, the bolts and doors again did shut themselves. Deep was the sleep of the Asuras and of him who kept the gate.
- 78. For by Viṣṇu's Illusive Power naught to their consciousness came. It seemed to them as though a daughter of her own had been born to Dēvakī. The ways of God to no man's knowledge ever come.
- 79. When Illusion, as a girl-babe, had arrived within the prison gate, there blossomed forth the dawn, and then she uttered a cry of the weeping of a new-born child. The deep sleep fled from the guards, and to consciousness they woke.
- 80. Hastily they arose, and to Kamsa ran; when the news he heard withered in perturbation did he become, and, in the fear of death. to tremble he began.
- 81. Shaking did he approach his sister and her spouse, and to him began Dēvakī to make humble entreaty, 'Brother, it befitteth thee not to kill a little girl.'
- 82. Hiding it, hiding it, still did she lay it before Kamsa; but in no way softened she the heart of the Rākṣasa, as in love for the daughter a-wailing did the mother lift her voice.
- 83. In mighty poisonous hate took he the girl-babe from her hand. Holding it by its legs went he forth, and on the stone threshold dashed it down.
- 84. But forth from his hand sped the girl into the sky, and there in the aspect of a goddess did she stay. Eight armed was she, with every kind of weapon in her hand.
- 85. Round her neck was a necklace magnifical, and in all beauteous apparel was she arrayed. To view that spectacle came all the gods.

- 86. 'Shame on thee,' came her voice to Kamsa. 'Ere this already hath been born thy Death. From my murder can no profit come to thee.
- 87. 'Why dost thou oppress thy sister and her spouse? Against thy Death there is no possible resource for thee. No profit hast thou gained by murdering babes.'
- 88. When this voice to Kamsa came, in his terror did he somewhat come into his right mind, and at the feet of his sister and her spouse he fell.
- 89. 'My deeds were destined by the Supreme Himself. In vain have I sown the seeds of sin. Now it befitteth you to grant to me forgiveness.'
- 90. From the prison did he bring them forth and honour show them. From off their hands their gyves he loosed,—from the hands of Dēvakī his sister and her spouse.
- 91. Quivering, as of a tree-twig, of Kamsa possession took. Sleep and slumber put he far from him, and he to weep began. In his trembling before his Death all else did he forget.
- 92. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

III. THE REJOICINGS IN GÖKULA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, v.)

- 94. At that time, when she received Kṛṣṇa-into her bosom, Yaśōdā lay asleep; and when she (awoke and) saw him, then blossomed forth her heart and soul.
- 95. At the birth of a son was Nanda the cowherd filled with joy,—to his blessed lot be victory proclaimed! he to whom in son's guise came Bhagavān.

- 97. Ten thousand milch-cows did he give in gift, adorning them with gold and pearls and jewel-garlands. Nor can it e'er be told how much of food and goods he did distribute.
- 98. The cowherd wives began their dance, as they sang that Nārâyaṇa to Yaśōdā a son had given. 'Who knoweth,' sing they, 'perchance it be Nārâyaṇa Himself who hath taken birth.'
- 99. With gratulations came the herdsmen to Nanda, bringing butter and ghee and many huge churns of milk, and to all did he forthwith lavish wealth in gifts.
- 100. All Gökula more and more began to blossom forth in joy. Twas as though the spring festival was being kept in all the country round, or as though all mankind in their lifetime Viṣṇu's heaven had reached.

 - IV. NANDA VISITS MATHURA. THE FATE OF PUTANA. (Bhag. Pu. X, v, vi.)
- 102. Nanda the cowherd went (to Mathurā) to pay his tribute unto Kamsa. There met he also King Vasudēva. and to his friend told he how a son had been born unto him.
- 103. With mutual content did both rejoice, and with gratulations and blessings each the other greeted, as they prayed that, this time, the babe's life might be saved.
- 104. To Nanda did King Vasudēva impart the truth of the case. Great woes did Kamsa wreak upon the children. Therefore, prithee, Kṛṣṇa and Baladēva safely guard.'
- 105. Now Kamsa had determined in his heart to slay (all) children, 'for,' quoth he, '(if this I do), how shall the infant that is my Death not die?' And so dispatched he Pūtanā against each child.

- 106. From house to house doth Pūtanā wander, and little suckling babes doth she destroy. 'Therefore,' said he, 'speedily go thou forth and make me safe against him.'
- 107. This news heard Nanda the cowherd when he had visited King Vasudeva, and he was filled with trembling. Straightway, in his great love for Kṛṣṇa, set he forth running.
- 108. (But meanwhile) Pūtanā had entered Nanda's gateway arrayed in fairy guise, and as they looked upon her each and every wight was ravished by the lovely vision.
- 109. She took Yaśōdā's babe as though to toy with it, and Kṛṣṇa sought she to dandle in her arms, as full of (false) affection offered she him her breast to suck.
- 110. Kṛṣṇa grasped her breasts that he might drink, and at them sucked he with such might that through them he dragged forth her breath and life. Like a huge thunderbolt, in the courtyard fell she prostrate.
- 111. Over twelve long miles her body lay extended, while trees and shrubs and mighty rocks were crushed to powder as she fell. From the sky echoed a thunder-roar, and in the earth a chasm formed itself.
- 112. On his way home, Nanda the cowherd heard the crash, and with astonied terror was he filled. 'O God! O God!,' 'Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa!' cried he, when he saw Pūtanā lying in the courtyard prone.
- 113. To Nanda came the cowherds with their gratulations. 'Today, we wot that Nārāyaṇa Himself hath saved the child. A calamity came to him, and far away hath it been banished.'
- 114. Lest a stink should come from it, Pūtanā's body did they burn; but, lo, from the smoke of the pyre it was a fragrant scent that issued forth, for, I ween, death at the hands of Kṛṣṇa was a cause of even her salvation.
- 115. Cry ye victory to Nanda the cowherd! to Mother Yaśōdā pay ye reverence meet! For into their hands it was that Bhagavān came to sport.

- 122. Into deep thought fell Kamsa. 'My Death,' quoth he, 'hath manifest become.' So to the Rākṣasas he gave command in search of him to wander forth.
- 123. To Tṛṇâvarta, the whirlwind demon, was given the command. (He was to search) as though the wealth of the god of wealth had been lost. Forth wandered he, and Kṛṣṇa did he approach.
- 124. In a whirlwind took he him up, and off into the sky he carried him. But Kṛṣṇa gave him one blow, and felled him to the earth. Then seated he himself upon him and open tore his breast.

VII. THE NAMING RITE. (Bhag. Pu. X, viii.)

- 127. To Nanda's home did Vasudeva send Garga the sage, that he might duly carry out the naming rite of the children Haladhara-Rāma and Kṛṣṇa.
- 128. When he came there to Gōkula, all was known to him, and to welcome the Brāhmaṇa came forth Nanda the cowherd.
- 129. To the Brāhmana, (in formal wise) Nanda the cowherd made known the birth of a son. Then the sage Garga began to write the horoscope, and declared to him each sign to be propitious.
- 130. When he had made due computation of the moment of the birth, in the first place found he the moon in Taurus, and in the second place the Ascending Node in Gemini.
- 131. (In the third place), like unto a brother (to the former two), was Jupiter in Cancer, Venus was in Leo, the sun was mighty in its influence, and, for the begetting of manifold progeny, was Mercury in Virgo.

¹ Another name of Haladhara (the Plough-bearer) or Bala-Rāma. See verses 42, 43, 46. He was elder brother of Kṛṣṇa, and his constant companion.

² Garga was a Brāhmaṇa, and Kṛṣṇa ostensibly a cowherd, whose touch would defile a Brāhmaṇa's food. According to established precedent, it was to be expected that, when his food was thus defiled, Garga should utter a terrible Brāhmaṇa's curse against the defiler. Yaśōdā fully expects this, and begs for mercy on the ground that she has long been hungering for a son, that Kṛṣṇa is her only son, and that

- 133. And further quoth he to him, 'great, verily, is this child destined to become. His glory, and his alone, will be greater than the glory of the gods, and to him honour and reverence will all kings pay.
- 134. 'Throughout the three worlds will his name wax illustrious. Such were the indications of the horoscope,' and to the dark and comely babe he gave the name of 'Krsna' (i.e. 'the Dark One').
- 135. Thereafter wrote he the horoscope of Bala-Bhadra ', and saw that he would become a man of might; and so to Haladhara there became allotted the name of 'Bala-Bhadra' (i.e. 'Excellent in Might').
- 136. Thereafter the sage began to prepare his food. Twice or thrice did Kṛṣṇa render it defiled, and fain was Yaśōdā to plead for the forgiveness of the holy man.
- 137. 'Ah, Reverend Sir, but frolicking is my child. I am one hungry for a son, and on thy mercy (do I throw myself), that anger arise not in thy heart and thou curse him not.'
- 138. In one way or another did he at last prepare his food and took his seat to eat. Then closed he his eyes, and with meet reverence to Viṣṇu did he dedicate it, and straightway Kṛṣṇa hurried up, ate of it, and ran away.
- 139. Right pleased is Garga the Sage at this deed. Yaśōdā is filled with fear of the Brāhmaṇa's wrath, and at the sight joyfully in the heavens sport the gods.
- 140. Time and again doth the mother correct him, again and again doth she hold Kṛṣṇa back and tell him that, once the saint hath finished (with his food), then and not till then may he approach him.

he is but a child. Garga, however, does not curse and at last manages to get his food in an eatable condition. Before eating, he says grace, the grace being a dedication of the food to Viṣṇu. Kṛṣṇa, being an incarnation of Viṣṇu, claims the food as his own and makes away with it. Garga, of course, knows the truth about Kṛṣṇa, and instead of becoming angry is highly pleased, as also the gods, at this revelation of his deity. Yaśōdā, on the contrary, being ignorant of the true facts, is terrified at what she fears will be the certain fate of her son.

- 141. His mother held him back, but in no way did he heed her. 'To me this sage doth dedicate the food. Wherefore should I not eat of it?' But even though he thus spoke plainly, how should she understand him?
- 142. The priest, his meal consumed, set forth for home. How great was the gift of food and money that Nanda the cowherd gave him, as he asked for the parting blessing of the holy man!
- 143. Reverence be to Nanda the cowherd's lot. Reverence be to Yaśōdā the Mother of the Son. Reverence be to the Name of Kṛṣṇa, to whom posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 144. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 145. Ever dedicating myself to his playful frolies, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, to him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
 - VIII. THE BUTTER-THIEF, KRŞŅA AND THE MORTAR, YAMALA AND ARJUNA.
 (Bhāg. Pu. X, viii-xi.)
- 146. Kṛṣṇa (in due time) would slowly creep outside the house, and as he went along the jars of milk would he upset. Thus did the childKṛṣṇa gain the name of 'Dugdha-gōpa' (i.e. 'Milkman').
- 147. As his legs gained strength began he to walk with little bells tinkling on his lotus-feet, and thus would he go round from house to house.
- 148. The child Kṛṣṇa acquired a taste for eating butter, and to pilfer it would he climb up on to the swinging shelves on which they stored it. Thus did he gain the name of 'Butter-Thief.'
- 149. To pilfer butter would he wander from house to house. Watching for him would the wives of the cowherds stand, as he (would come along) looking fearfully behind him and before.

- 150. A charge of butter-theft would they bring against Kṛṣṇa, and he, in sham humility, would let his eyes roam hither and thither as he watched them. Lo! to his watching and to the roaming of his eyes do I make myself a sacrifice.
- 151. To steal butter would he peregrinate from swinging shelf to swinging shelf, putting grinding-stones and mortars under them to stand upon, and so reach up; but the moment they caught sight of him. away he scampereth.
- 152. Sometimes doth he fill his mouth with milk, and unabashed let himself fall into the hand of some cowherd's wife. Then fixeth he his eyes upon her and spurteth a stream of milk right full into her face.
- 153. When her eyes thus become blinded with the spurted stream of milk, Kṛṣṇa slippeth away from 'neath her hand, and collecting a mob of boys a hubbub raiseth.
- 154. Sometimes there may be a milk bowl high up upon a swinging shelf, and with a stick would be poke holes in its bottom. Then setting his mouth below it standeth he drinking from the issuing stream.
- 155. At one time giveth he a drink to the other children, at another to himself, at another to the monkeys and the bears, and yet another time doth he waste it and scatter it upon the wall or ceiling.
- 156. The cowherds' wives would come in chase of Kṛṣṇa. To his mother would they tell the waste of butter and of milk, and for their forgiveness doth Yaśōdā pray.
- 157. Yet still the love of the cowherds' wives kept on increasing. If their store of milk ran short, they would buy more (for him to steal). 'For, perchance, by this stratagem,' thought they, 'he may be entited into our house to play his tricks.'
- 158. The cowherds' wives privately set milk in his way, fearing that (he would leave them and) find his way into his mother's lap. And to his nestling in his mother's lap do I dedicate myself.

¹ Yasodā never recognized Kṛṣṇa as a divinity. To her he was her darling baby boy, and this was in accordance with his wishes. But every now and then he granted her visions of his real nature, as the Supreme Deity, of whom all creation is but a manifestation. But, necessarily, these acts of graciousness were but moment-

- 159. Once on a time did his mother give Kṛṣṇa her breast to suck. and to her, for the drink, did he open wide his mouth. She looked within it, and lo! therein was manifested unto her the whole creation. Then straightway was it by her forgotten.
- 160. Another time did his mother hear that Kṛṣṇa had been eating earth. His mouth she opened and therein she looked, and therein again was shown to her the whole creation, and again straightway it, too, did she forget.
- 161. (Bhāg. Pu. X, ix.) One day his mother to churn milk took her seat, and Kṛṣṇa (came and nestled) in her bosom, and caught her arms to stop her at the work. Moreover, on the stove there was being heated a pan of milk.
- 162. Suddenly the pan of milk began to boil over, and she hastily put him down (and ran) to cool down the (foaming milk); but behind her back he upset all the other milk that was in the churn.²
- 163. On the upsetting of the milk at Kṛṣṇa waxed the mother wroth. After him did she run, that somehow she might catch him. But how could she seize Him who hath no bounds nor limits?
- 164. Pursuing him, pursuing him, became his mother weary, and when he saw her weariness sorrow came upon him, and by her he let himself be caught.
- 165. The mother caught him and brought him home. With a cow's halter she began to tie him up. But how can He who hath no bonds be bound?
- 166. With the cow's halter doth his mother Kṛṣṇa bind, but each time that she would tie it, the halter was two fingers short. Then together tied she all the halters, but still were they all too short.
- 167. Thousands of halters did she knot together round him, but still (they were too short and) Kṛṣṇa with them by her could not be tied. At the last compassion came to him, and he suffered his body to be bound by her.

ary, and she was not permitted to remember them afterwards.

² According to the Bhāgavata Purāṇa he upset the churn because he was angry at the sudden cessation of the suckling.

- 168. Then, by one single halter did she tie him to a rice-mortar. Behold, the Lord of all that liveth could be bound! By the halter of my life-breath may I also bind Him to the mortar of my thoughts.
- 169. Quoth his mother to herself, 'Now have I tied him up,' and to her household works she went; but Kṛṣṇa quietly went forth outside taking the mortar with him, and came up close to the two trees, Yamala and Arjuna.
- 170. (Bhāg. Pu. X, ix.) These were two trees close to the court-yard. Their names were Yamala and Arjuna, and for thousands of years had they been growing.
- 171. Between the two trees progressed he slowly, and by a single push of the mortar became they both uprooted from the ground. Then assumed they the forms of two gods, and Kṛṣṇa did they approach.
- 172. By a curse of Nārada's had they been changed to trees, for otherwise were they sons of the god Vaiśravana. But, when they looked upon Krsna, ended became the curse.
- 173. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xi.) At the falling of the trees were all astonied. Rejoicing and gratulations began they to utter, 'Our Kṛṣṇa hath been protected by Nārāyaṇa Himself.' 1
- 174. Kisses did Nanda the cowherd shower on Kṛṣṇa, for he knew not the cause of the happening, neither of the fall of the trees nor of the raising of the curse.
- 175. The children (who had seen it) came up to say the truth. 'It was at a mere push from Kṛṣṇa that the trees fell.' But of the child Kṛṣṇa who could this believe?
- 176. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

¹ The word $b\bar{a}sh\check{e}$ properly means 'words,' especially 'childish babblings.' But here, as in verse 220, it is extended to mean 'baby pranks.'

- IX. KŖŖŅA AND THE FRUIT-WIFE, THE MIGRATION TO VŖNDĀVANA, THE FATE OF VATSÂSURA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xi.)
- 178. Once on a day a fruit-wife came to sell her fruit, and Kṛṣṇa went forth to buy of her fruit with a handful of paddy. But when he paid it as the price, instead of each grain there issued from his hand a jewel as the price.
- 179. Once on a day Nanda the cowherd was filled with joy, as he watched the many infant pranks 1 of Kṛṣṇa, the while romped together the cowherd boys and the cowherd wives.
- 180. Then fell they all sore amazed as they called to mind Pūtanā, the wain, and Tṛṇâvarta, and as they thought and thought upon the crashing of the trees they became filled with fear.
- 181. To hold counsel met they all together. 'What mean these portents that befall this land?'? Blessed be God who saved Kṛṣṇa each time that they occurred.'
- 182. So thus did they resolve and to the forest (vana) set they forth, all with their children, wives and flocks, and reached the mountain of Gövardhana and Vrndavana.
- 183. Arrayed in gold and pearls and jewels, sporting and playing with the infant Kṛṣṇa, filled with happiness are the herd-maidens as to the forest they ascended.
- 184. The boys frolic with Kṛṣṇa, as sweetly tinkle the bells upon his anklets. Yea, to his lotus-feet do I dedicate the pupils of mine eyes.
- 185. When Kṛṣṇa became four or five years old, he began to watch the calves. The Protector of all that liveth hath become a watcher of calves, and (as their leader) all the cowherd lads did follow him.
- 186. He was used to take the calves to wander in the forest. There, as a calf disguised, came Vatsâsura (the calf-demon), and him did Kṛṣṇa recognize, and to Haladhara did he point him out.

² In Kāshmīrī, the word nagar, like shĕhr, is often used to signify 'a tract of land,' in addition to the usual meaning of 'city'

 - X. THE FATES OF BAKÂSURA AND AGHÂSURA. (Bhāg. Pu. X. xi, xii.)
- 190. That after, to Kṛṣṇa came Bakâsura, as a crane disguised. Brother was he of Pūtanā, and with mighty hatred was he filled.
- 191. Into his crane's mouth took he Kṛṣṇa and swallowed him. But Kṛṣṇa, as he reached his throat, so tore it that the demon pulled him forth again. Then Kṛṣṇa merely tore his beak asunder (and so destroyed him).
- 192. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xii.) A brother of Bakâsura was Aghâsura, and at the slaughter of his sister and his brother him did rage consume. So, and as python huge disguised, came he to Krsna.
- 193. Wide opened he his mouth and waited in the forest. Like the ground and like the sky appeared (his lower and his upper jaw), and as a miles-long road so seemed his tongue.
- 194. The children all began to frolic on his tongue, and looked around in marvel at the curious place. Well pleased, I wot, was the Rāksasa as he swallowed them.
- 195. But Kṛṣṇa recognized him, and pretended to be mad. He wandered down the road and seized his throat. Then, through his suture cervical burst forth the Asura's breath.
- 196. Then led he forth the children with him. Upon the demon scattered he the death-dust, and so died he his deaths. The gods the while rained flowers upon Kṛṣṇa.

verse, Krana seized his throat, the demon died.

 - XI. THE RAPE OF THE COWHERD BOYS BY BRAHMA. (Bhag. Pu. X, xiii.)
- 200. Ever near Kṛṣṇa would stay the cowherd boys, and in many varied ways did they frolic. (But out of jealousy) none of the gods could bear this sight.
- 201. One time came it into Brahmā's thought, 'Behold, how blessed are these cowherd lads, who every moment spend in Kṛṣṇa's company.
- 202. For us with difficulty is gained the power of calling him to mind by contemplation, and with these lads is he ever present in their frolics.' This could he not endure, and forthwith found he himself compelled to flee (the sight).
- 203. Once on a day at dawn set forth Kṛṣṇa, and with him to watch the calves took he the herd lads and for them meat and drink.
- 204. When, at the time of the midday meal, they all sat down to eat the food that each had brought with him, and after Kṛṣṇa had assembled them, he began to eat himself.
- 205. To one lad offereth he a piece of food and then eateth he it himself. Another lad himself putteth gobbet after gobbet into his mouth, and yet another is picking and stealing Kṛṣṇa's food.
- 206. From one doth he something snatch, and from him another snatcheth, at another he winketh as he showeth his gobbet. Would that he would deign one wink at me the feeble one!

- 207. A gobbet of boiled rice was in Kṛṣṇa's hand, when he saw that from beneath his very eyes the herd had flitted far into the forest. So holding the gobbet still within his fingers after the herd he ran.
- 208. Long did he wander in the forest but no trace of the cattle did he find, and behind his back Brahmā hid the herd-lads away. When Kṛṣṇa nowhere saw the herd, returned he back to the place whence he had set forth.
- 209. When he had come back to the place where they had been eating, then did he understand, and knew that Brahmã had come to cozen him, and over that cozening cast he his Illusive Power.
- 210. By his own might created he anew a troop of lads and herd. The new herd of calves the former exactly did resemble, and by God's might no one discerned the change.
- 211. For a whole year the new lads were there a-frolicking, and the new calves were frisking round their mothers. Then, after the year, Brahmā understood.
- 212. Out of delusion came Brahmā to understanding. From heaven did he descend and fall at Kṛṣṇa's feet. He brought and rendered back the herd of calves and the whole troop of lads.
- 213. When the troop of lads came up to Kṛṣṇa, still held he within his fingers that very gobbet of rice. For, in their absence how could it have gone down his throat?
- 214. Into Kṛṣṇa's body was the illusory troop absorbed. As it had been but (an emanation of) Kṛṣṇa, so Kṛṣṇa, and nought but Kṛṣṇa, did it again become. To the Illusive Power of Viṣṇu ever do 1 dedicate myself.
- 215. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XII. THE FATE OF DHĒNUKA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, XV.)

- 217. Kṛṣṇa grew older, and began to watch cows (not calves). Into the forests taketh he the cows and then wandereth home. And when he cometh back his mother feedeth him with rice and milk.
- 218. With the milch-kine into the forest would they wend forth, frolicking along the bank of the Yamunā, he, followed by Haladhara and all the lads.
- 219. Once on a day they went out beyond the forest, and there of surpassing delight a place did they behold. Adorned was it with lakes and trees and shrubs and fruits.
- 220. There with fullest joy did they frolic, and with many and many a kind of childish game did they disport. Here did they run and there they ran, as hide-and-seek they played.
- 221. Here did some pretend to be horses and others riders, there others played at being elephants' howdahs, there others, riding on each other's shoulders, played at the game of 'Śukra's palankeen.'
- 222. Kṛṣṇa stealthily slippeth among the kine, and terrifieth them by pretending to be a lion. Then clapping his hands doth he return with bursts of laughter.
- 223. Śrīdāman i came running to Kṛṣṇa. Quoth he to him, 'here be a grove filled with fruit. Merry should we be when playing there.
- 224. 'But what are we to do? In that grove there is a Rākṣasa.' The forms of asses have he and all his crew assumed.' So Kṛṣṇa heard, and then he understood.
- 225. That Rākṣasa was Dhēnuka hight. They went, they fell upon him, they utterly destroyed him, and Haladhara Rāma his vital breaths tore out.
- 226. Thus was the Rākṣasa destroyed, and they began their frolics; fruit of many kinds did they eat, and then returned they home. To Kṛṣṇa's frolics do I dedicate myself.

XIII. THE CONQUEST OF KĀLĪYA NĀGA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xvi, xvii.)

- 229. Once on a day, as ever, went forth at dawn the herd lads with their kine a-frolicking, and all along the Yamunā bank did they begin to wander.
- 230. At a certain place was the home of Kālīya Nāga. There did they all drink, and straightway fell they all aswoon. But conscious became they again when Kṛṣṇa cast his glance upon them.
- 231. He saw that in the water was Kāliya Nāga, and through that cause was the water fraught with poison. So, as his nature ever was, to destroy that evil one he set himself.
- 232. Into a tree he climbed and from it sent he forth a challenge and loudly clapped his hands. Thus became $K\bar{a}$ liya $N\bar{a}$ ga attent, and he began to gaze at him.
- 233. Next Kṛṣṇa stirred the water up and muddied it, till Kāliya Nāga wroth became, and to the surface ascended from below. Then into the water Kṛṣṇa leaped upon him.
- 234. Against Kṛṣṇa great might did Kālīya Nāga display, and on the bank began all the lads to tremble, till up Haladhara Rāma came to comfort them.
- 235. To tremble began all the household of Nanda the cowherd, and there, in the house, did many evil portents hap; so all arose, and in the search for Kṛṣṇa hurried forth.
- 236. There saw they Kālīya Nāga and his thousand heads, and by the serpent ¹ Kṛṣṇa downward pressed; and as they looked, Yaśōdā and all began to wail.

² That is to say, he had been appearing in the character of a mighty warrior, 5?

- 237. Then see they that the serpent hath no power left. From head to head Kṛṣṇa on its heads was leaping; and at each kick of Kṛṣṇa forth spouted blood.
- 238. The serpent's last hour to approach began, and suppliants for mercy to Kṛṣṇa came all his wives, and in beauteous form began they to implore him.
- 239. Prone to hear supplication is Kṛṣṇa's quality. Gracious to them became he, and to the serpent said he 'Flee thou from hence.' And thus released the serpent fled away.
- 240. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xvii.) In olden time did Garuḍa¹ hold the snakes in hate, and every serpent that he saw him would he devour; till harassed so did they become that to obey his commands they did agree.
- 241. And thus were the terms of peace. Each month should Garuda one serpent devour, each as his turn came round, and he should wait a month for the appointed turn.
- 242. But when to Kālīya Nāga the turn came round, mighty in strength, at Garuḍa he came to fight. But he could not prevail, nor could he find a way to flee.
- 243. Now in that place there was a certain mighty saint plunged in austerities. To him did Kāltya flee, and with him refuge took. Then how could the saint deliver him into Garuda's hand?
- 244. From that day, with his wives and children, did Kālīya hidden in the water dwell; and when he by Kṛṣṇa thence was driven, to the Ocean did he take his way.
- 245. When Kṛṣṇa came forth from the water, he crept like a frightened child into his mother's bosom.² To each part he played may I dedicate myself.

and now he suddenly changed his appearance, and became the child again. The author dedicates himself to each of the many rôles assumed by Kṛṣṇa.

XIV. THE FATE OF PRALAMBA. THE FOREST CONFLAGRATION. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xviii, xix.)

- 250. In the season of summer the flowers began to bloom, and many were the frolics that Kṛṣṇa played. To his frolics would I dedicate myself.
- 251. Once on a day, when in his frolics he was full of joy, Pralamba, the Rākṣasa, entered their midst. The form of a lad did he take, and with them he began to play.
- 252. Among themselves began they to play the game 'Khāsĕn,' and this was the manner of it, that when one (party of boys) was defeated (in a game), the lads of that party should carry the lads of the other party on their shoulders. (Haladhara was the leader of one party and Kṛṣṇa of the other.) Haladhara had not to take Kṛṣṇa on his shoulders (because his party won).
- 253. Śrīdāman¹ (was of the winning party and had the right to) mount on Kṛṣṇa's shoulders, so Kṛṣṇa stood and offered his back, and Śrīdāman rode upon it.

- 254. Haladhara had the right to mount on the shoulders of (Pralamba) the Asura disguised as a lad. Pralamba took him up as a rider and at once carried he him off. But Haladhara knew what he would have done, and with a single fist-blow tore out his life-breath.
- 255. Joyfully did all the lads exult; Haladhara Rāma did they praise, while the gods rained flowers from the sky.

- 260. In playing the flute did he take delight, and from his playing the flute (gained he the name of) Muralidhara (the Fluteplayer). Would that I also the playing of his flute might hear.
- 261. As he would begin playing on the flute, the milch-kine standing still did cease their grazing, and the calves would cease from drinking (their mothers') milk to listen to the sound.
- 262. As he went forth playing on his flute, forth too went the hearts of the herdmaidens, and after him would they begin to run.

- 263. There did all the herdmaidens begin to be maddened, and swooned they as they kept looking on his Cupid-form. Filled with great longing for him did they eke become.
- 264. By this time Kṛṣṇa had attained to youthhood, and why need we speak of him who was himself a very Cupid, and how should not the damsels have been filled with longing?
- 265. Ever after him ran the herd-damsels, abandoning their household duties all, and with embraces would they clasp his Cupid-form.
- 266. To this Cupid so devoted became the hearts of the herd damsels, that all with one consent they took vows of fasting, prating 'May love for us in Krsna be awakened.'
- 267. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxii.) In the month Mọnjⁿhōr (November-December) on the bank of the Yamunā did they offer prayers and worship the goddess Kātyāyanī.¹
- 268. Before the goddess came they all to ask a boon, 'May Cupid Kṛṣṇa choose us for himself!' for this alone was the longing that they felt.
- 269. By their worship was the goddess rendered gracious, and the longing of the herd-girls was fulfilled, and thus into the thought of Kṛṣṇa himself did they come.
- 270. At dawn, when they descended to bathe, Kṛṣṇa came along after them and carried off their garments. Then up in a tree began he his flute to sound.
- 271. The herd-damsels ascended the bank and began to search. Each for her own garments began to seek. Then, finding themselves naked, again into the water they descended.

- XV. THE THEFT OF THE HERD-DAMSELS' GARMENTS. 272--280
- 272. On the tree, holding their garments in his hand, did they see him; but, naked as they were, how could they show to him their forms? So from the water began they to him to make entreaties.
- 273. 'How becometh it for women to stay naked? To thee do we dedicate ourselves; give us, pray, our garments.' Quoth he to them, 'Aye, if (before me) naked as ye are ye stand.'
- 274. Quoth they to him, 'Our vow and fast broken will become.' Quoth he to them, 'Your vow hath become fulfilled, for this be the very longing that was within your hearts.'
- 275. How many entreaties did they make to him! 'What are these childish pranks! what be this that unto us hath happed!' But he heeded them not, and his flute continued he to play.
- 276. Tormented by the cold, naked as they were, on to the bank they climbed. Quoth he to them, 'There stand ye, and reverence to me make.' There were they stark naked as they bowed to him.
- 277. From the tree made he ready the garments to hand to them. She who first cometh before me naked, to her will I give her clothes.' So, with this frolic did he thus divert himself.
- 278. No sooner had he from the tree descended than to him did they their bodies dedicate, and begged from him the boon that he their longings would fulfil. Thus from the young Kṛṣṇa took they his spoken promise.
- 279. And this was the spoken promise that they took from him. (To their) 'Sport with us for but a single night' (he answered 'yea') and only with that promise was the herd-damsels' yearning stayed.
- 280. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxix.¹) By night, all through the night shone the full moon, and playing on the flute forth Kṛṣṇa went, for his uttered promise needs must be keep.

- 281. Maddened did the herd-damsels pursuing him run forth abandoning their homes and household duties. Ahead ahead went Kṛṣṇa and they all after him.
- 282. Strolling went they forth, through the forest did they roam. Kṛṣṇa the flute kept playing, and at the sound love attacked the herd-damsels.
- 283. As they frolicked, madly did they frolic. Then, deceiving them, from their midst he hid himself, and one herd-damsel with him took.
- 284. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxx.) Like unto poison was this to the other damsels, and bereft of reason did they become. Like mad women did they ask the trees, but no trace of Kṛṣṇa can they find.
- 285. Here 'tis as though his shadow appeared, and after it they ran; there find they the prints of Kṛṣṇa's feet, but find no sign of him. Footprint by footprint do they follow him, kissing each mark of Kṛṣṇa's feet.
- 286. Each footprint of Kṣṛṇa do they scan, and see the footprints of a woman with him, as among themselves distraught do they become.
- 287. 'There appeareth to be some herd-damsel with him; some happy fair hath gained his love. Who can she be that hath taken his heart away from us?'
- 288. Again they mark that the woman's footprints are no longer with him, in one place there is but the print of Kṛṣṇa's foot alone. Then made they no doubt but that he had on to his shoulder lifted her.
- 289. Elsewhere they came upon a weeping herd-damsel. They asked her, and quoth she, 'me hath he deceived, from me hath he gone; for at the thought that it was I who was his dearling I had been filled with self conceit.
- 290. So he abandoned me. What can I say to whom?' and with them too did she begin to run. Crazy were they all, nor can their madness be described.

¹ The Gandharvas are the heavenly quiristers. Nārada is the musician of the gods. His special instrument is the lute.

² According to the Bhāgavata Purāṇa his name was Śankhacūḍa, and the carrying off took place subsequently. He was a demon, a Daitya, not a Yaksa.

- 291. Some called to him, some sang to him; some, meditating upon Kṛṣṇa in their hearts, stood still; others beat their own bodies babbling and distraught.
- 292. Again himself he came to them, and to him did they their bodies dedicate; all came to him and together seized him in embrace; and each saith to herself, 'It is I alone who did embrace him.'
- 293. Rejoicing and frolicking did they make their sport. Kṛṣṇa's Illusive Form, too, sported with them, and into his mind came the frolic of the Rāṣa dance.
- 294. They formed the circle and began the revel, and Kṛṣṇa (multiplied himself) and by the side of each herd-damsel (danced), while in the centre clapping his hands to time the dancing also Kṛṣṇa stood.
- 295. That single night became a night that lasted for six months, and all the gods were gazing at the scene, but by no one, not e'en by them, can all Viṣṇu's Illusive Power be seen.
- 296. The gods and the Gandharvas ¹ songs did sing, Nārada was playing on his lute. But naught of that can any one describe.
- 297. Thereafter again began they to frolic, and mutually did they sport in varied manner. To each sport shouldst thou dedicate thyself.
- 298. (As Kṛṣṇa's childish pranks came to their minds) here damsels pretended to be horses and others to be their riders; there some pretended to be elephants while others drove them; there some pretended to make others enter palankeens.
- 299. (Bhāg. Pu. X,xxxiv.) At that hour came Śańkara ² the Yakṣa, and he the herd-damsels and the herdsmen carried off; but by Kṛṣṇa's hand the door of salvation did he attain.³
- 300. Victory be to Kṛṣṇa's sporting, victory be to the herd-damsels highly blessed, and victory be to the telling of the tale by Śukadēva.⁴

 $^{^3}$ The door of salvation is death. As he was killed by Kṛṣṇa he necessarily received salvation.

⁴ He was the original reciter of the Bhagavata Purana.

- 301. Al this was done that the herd-damsels might have salvation, and by their love saved by him became they all. (So beyond limit is) Viṣṇu's Illusive Power, that naught of it can reach the comprehension.
- 302. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 303. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XVI. THE CHURLISH SAGES. (Bhag. Pu. X, XXIII.)

- 304. Once on a day it happed that Kṛṣṇa hungry became, and so did all his playmates. Their home was far distant, and to whom should they tell their state?
- 305. On the bank of the Yamunā was the forest's edge, and in that forest were certain sages busy on a solemn sacrifice. So to the sacrificial circle did Krsna send the lads.
- 306. They began to tell them of Kṛṣṇa's hunger. 'From you doth our Kṛṣṇa ask for food.' But when they heard it, upon the sages did the darkness (of this world's illusion) fall.
- 307. 'Now must we present the offering of the sacrifice. When we have given our oblation to the gods, then will we list to you. How is it meet that we should offer gifts to cowherds first'?
- 308. Hungry and faint did they return to Kṛṣṇa, and back he sent them to the sages' wives. Then gladdened, when they heard the tale, were these.
- 309. With both hands did they offer (as it were) the life-blood of their necks. 'Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān,' cried they, 'on us hath favour shown.' So took they up sweet food of many kinds, and forth they ran.

- 312. When they saw them the Brāhmaṇas began to send forth lamentations, for, as it were, the glory of the sun was caused by the beauty of their wives and to utter curses on themselves did they begin.
- 313. Shame be on their ignorance! Victory be to Brāhmaṇa women of such great good luck! To the ways of God and to Kṛṣṇa be reverence paid.

XVII. THE UPHOLDING OF GOVARDHANA. (Bhag, Pu. X, xxiv-xxvii.)

- 316. In Gōkula it was the custom of their sacrifices, that to appease Indra the cowherds all their supplications made, and therefore to him did they engage themselves in sacrifice.
- 317. Kṛṣṇa once of Nanda the cowherd asked, 'What profit cometh from thus to Indra offering propitiation?' Quoth Nanda in reply, 'To us Indra giveth rain'.
- 318. 'He causeth rain to fall, and in each forest herbs are born. Thus will prosper all the folk and the mother-kine, and thereby shall we too all live long.'
- 319. Then answered Kṛṣṇa, 'If a man Indra do propitiate, Bhaga-vān (who is the real giver) doth not cause more rain than before to fall. Why are ye fast bound in ignorance?

¹ Three qualities, or principles, exist in all creation, named respectively sattva, or goodness per se, rajas, or activity per se (said to predominate in air), and tamas.

- 320. 'Viṣṇu alone it be that pervadeth all that is,—the living beings and dead matter. Through his principle of Activity causeth Viṣṇu alone the rain to fall, and through his principle of Goodness doth Viṣṇu alone protect and cherish us.¹
- 321. Of that Viṣṇu alone are the gods the thralls. He alone is of adoration worthy and will give to you success. Yea, it is by him who is devoted to Viṣṇu that salvation alone is to be won.
- 322. 'To that Viṣṇu offer ye adoration, but worship ye first Mount Govardhana. Let all the Brāhmanas engage in rites of holy worship.'
- 323. What the cowherds heard that into their hearts did enter, and into their hearts there came no manner of fear of Indra. So did they to all that Krsna said agree.
- 324. It was Bhagavan Himself who was thus causing a sportive manifestation, and who showed to them a mighty deed, ever new and new in all its parts. To each mighty deed do I dedicate myself.
- 325. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxv.) Then Indra's fury rose, and full of wrath did he become. In never ceasing floods caused he rain to fall on them. 'Twas to cause a devastation that on Gōkula the rain did fall.
- 326. Then fell it to Kṛṣṇa to protect the cowherds. Mount Govardhana on his little finger did he uplift, and with their clubs did the herd-lads help to hold it up.
- 327. Beneath it entered the cowherds and their herds for their protection, while Kṛṣṇa upholdeth it upon his little finger. Who can kill him whom Bhagavān protecteth?
- 328. For seven days was Indra in his wrath, but how could he against Bhagavān prevail? With himself became he ashamed and to his right mind did he come.

XVIII. THE RESCUE OF NANDA FROM VARUNA. (Bhag. Pu. X, xxviii.)

- 335. On the twelfth day of the moon's fortnight, Nanda to bathe descended into the Yamunā. It happed that there certain servants of Varuṇa were wandering, and him they seized and brought before the Guardian of the Quarter.¹
- 336. Kṛṣṇa heard this, and straightway went to Varuṇa, but (before he reached him) Varuṇa to meet him came, and at his feet he fell, crying, 'In the world's memory will ever this remain.'
- 337. Kṛṣṇa did he worship and to him sang he praises, and with his foster-father home returned Kṛṣṇa. When their home they reached, all to exult began.

an unlucky moment, when all was dark, and this gave Varuna's servants an excuse for seizing him.

- 338 To themselves said the cowherds when the story they had heard, 'Of a surety this Kṛṣṇa must be Bhagavān himself and us Vaikuṇṭha¹ may he cause to reach'?
- 339. The God (i.e. Kṛṣṇa in his ineffable form) came to fulfil the longing of their hearts, and to that very place itself Vaikuṇṭha came, and there saw they Kṛṣṇa seated on his throne.
- 340. Worshipping him were all the gods, and Nārada upon his lute was playing, while all the cowherds from afar upon them gazed.
- 341. Thus cried (the gods), 'Wherefore hath not our lot become so great as that of these cowherds? Here, in their hand and in their bosom sporteth he'. So deemed they Gōkula than Vaikuntha blessèd more.
- 342. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every service render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 343. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
 - XIX. NANDA SWALLOWED BY THE SERPENT. (Bhag. Pu. X, xxxiv.)
- 344. When in Gōkula there came Śiva's day, they all went forth to worship his Energic Power, and with great love and faith began they their adorations.
- 345. A certain serpent happened before Nanda, and in a single breath down swallowed him. To Kṛṣṇa then they all began to wail.
- 346. Kṛṣṇa the serpent kicked, and so expelled his life. A Vidyādhara was he, who thus from a curse became released, and prostrate before Kṛṣṇa's feet he fell.

² The Vidyādharas are a class of semi-divine beings.

- 347. In ancient days his name Sudarśana had been. By Angiras the sage had he been cursed, and for Kṛṣṇa's incarnation had he been waiting long.

XX. THE DEMON BULL. (Bhāg Pu. X, XXXVI.)

- 350. In the form of a bull did an Asura enter Gökula, and in his madness began he to rend apart the trees and shrubs. Full of hatred against Kṛṣṇa loud he roared.
- 351. Kṛṣṇa came forward and by the horns he grasped him. He seized him and cast him head downwards on the ground. Again and again Kṛṣṇa did he attack.
- 352. It was that Demon's (happy) fate that he should thus gain salvation, and by (his death at) Kṛṣṇa's hand was he released from being born again. Reverence be to the blessed lot he so obtained!
- 353. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 354. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds to him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
 - XXI. NĀRADA VISITS KAMSA. AKRŪRA'S MISSION. THE JOURNEY TO MATHURĀ. THE DEATH OF KAMSA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, XXXVI, 16-xliv.)
- 355. When Kamsa's time was come, to lay a snare for him did Nārada approach him, and thus quoth he, 'Before thy death now is there no long delay'.

- 356. 'In Kṛṣṇa's body hath thy Death been born. The eighth child is he of Vasudēva, and in Nanda's house hath he arrived at birth.
- 357. 'To Nanda was a daughter born, and hither was she brought and for thee put in Kṛṣṇa's place. Kṛṣṇa is now grown up, nor against him is it likely that thou canst prevail.'
- 358. This was but a ruse to call to Kamsa his austerities to mind; and therefore Nārada to him spake this message, that he might plunge yet further into sin.
- 359. Then became Kansa furious, and sought to kill his sister's spouse. Quoth to him Nārada, 'Why dost thou reverse the order of thy doings? First destroy thou thy Death, and then turn thou for revenge on Vasudēva.
- 360. 'At this present time no hero is thine equal. Only heroic acts should heroes do. If any might thou hast, then against Kṛṣṇa it do thou display.
- 361. 'Kṛṣṇa is but a lad, and how canst thou not prevail against him? Against thee what recourse can help the lad, for of thy dread might stand all the worlds in fear.
- 362. 'In thy hand alone lie all the Yādavas. From slaying Vasudēva to thee what profit will accrue? Only him shouldst thou slay who than thyself is mightier.
- 363. 'If Kṛṣṇa grow to manhood, how wilt thou prevail against him? Now is he at thy mercy, so speedily destroy thy Death. Then, when thy Death thou hast destroyed, in happiness abide at peace.
- 364. 'True, people say that Kṛṣṇa spends his time in divers childish pranks, but the wise ne'er think of an enemy as small. If the means thou ken, make no delay against him.
- 365. 'Into the prison cast thou Vasudēva, for to an enemy that poseth as a friend 'tis right to sorrow give. But, above all, to destroy thy Death seek out a plan.'

- 366. So somehow Kamsa raised his hand from killing Vasudeva and his spouse, and gives put he upon them, and into prison cast he them and let them stay.
- 367. To hold counsel all his mighty men he called. In terror of his Death he trembled sore, and each Demon did he cause to leap up before him:--
- 368. Kēśâsura, the mighty Demon; Muṣṭika and Caṇūra too, and again all who among his Demons mighty were.
- 369. To them the command he gave his Death to destroy. 'I dread that in Kṛṣṇa's body lieth my Death, and that he will surely kill me.' Then altogether did they hearten him.
- 370. To Mahādēva did he offer adoration, and to the great bow did he make worship—the bow that Mahādēva had given him himself.
- 371. The command he gave for making a great sacrifice. To the mighty bow an offering must be made. So, for the bow-sacrifices began they to make ready.
- 372. A wrestling ground and an altar began he to prepare, and for himself a place on high exalted. Then ordered he, 'Kṛṣṇa bring ye here, that I may see his might.'
- 373. An elephant had he, Kuvalayâpida hight. Again and again on peppers did he feed it, so as to madden it. 'First.' quoth he, 'will I the elephant in front of Kṛṣṇa set.'
- 374. Akrūra summoned he, 'Hither bring thou Kṛṣṇa with his brother, and from Nanda the Cowherd collect thou the tax of the rainy season.
- 375. 'In one way or in other must thou beguile that Kṛṣṇa. Say to him "To the bow-sacrifice have they invited you." So thus will fear not enter him, and he will set out upon the way.

- 376. 'No sooner than he reach in Mathurā the palace gate, will I, Great Hero, beguile him, and so destroy my Death. Then, with my Death destroyed, will I in happiness abide in peace.
- 377. 'Thereafter the folk of Vraja will I exterminate, the Yādavas with Ugrasēna will I slay, and on Dēvakī and Vasudēva will I my vengeance wreak.'
- 378. (Bhāg. Pu. X,xxxviii.) His own chariot gave he him on the which to ride, and thus spake he. 'In this chariot must thou like the wind him bring. Make no delay in bringing here my Death.'
- 379. At dawntide hied Akrūra with the message forth. On Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān the while he fixed his meditation, for in his tribe to Kṛṣṇa was there great devotion.
- 380. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxxvii.) Ahead of him to Gōkula sped Kēśâsura, and in horse's form Gōkula did he enter. Very huge was his equine body.
- 381. Kṛṣṇa went forth to meet him. His face he seized. Then (mounting him) with his soles his flanks he crushed till consciousness he lost. His belly burst, and down in the courtyard he fell.
- 382. Then, having killed him, to the forest Kṛṣṇa hied with the herd lads and with the herd of kine; and in his hand, as guardian of the cows, a wand he bore.
- 383. Then Nārada to Kṛṣṇa did approach, and, in his rôle of herd lad, Kṛṣṇa made belief and showed no sign of awe; for how should a lad like him discern the mighty Nārada!
- 384. Then Nārada, the chief of sages, began to sing his praises. 'Of the three worlds art Thou alone the Lord. On me, Thy slave for aye, cast Thou a kindly glance.
- 385. 'Of Thee, the limitless, who can the limit comprehend? Thou art Thyself the all-knowing Lord, and therefore to Thee what need I say? Birth hast Thou taken the earth's sad burden to dispel.'

- 386. In his childish sports Kṛṣṇa remained absorbed, the while Nārada, the chief of sages, sang his praises, and told him what was destined he should do.
- 387. In his childish sports Kṛṣṇa abode utterly absorbed, and Nārada having told his tale departed. Reverence be to the praises that he sang.
- 388. Kṛṣṇa went on playing with the lads, and there came Vyômâsura, as a lad disguised, while they played pickaback.
- 389. On the demon mounted the lads pickaback, and into a cave he took them, and there one by one did them incarcerate. Thus, without their witting it, into his power fell there all the lads.
- 390. But Kṛṣṇa discerned this and on to his back he climbed. Then straightway into a mountain did the demon turn himself, but Kṛṣṇa, with a blow of his mace, open split his head.
- 391. Forth from the cave brought he the lads and led them home. The gods, the while, from heaven on him flowers rained, as with the kine he home returned.
- 392. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xxxviii.) As forth from Kamsa's presence Akrūra sped, with a soul full of love for Kṛṣṇa on his way he hurried, and all his thoughts were fixed on Kṛṣṇa's lotus-feet.
- 393. True was it that of Kamsa was he a servant (and him must needs obey): but natheless an earnest devotee was he of Nārâyaṇa, and (for obedience) kept him in his thoughts, even as he kept Kamsa.
- 394. In his thoughts was there but one desire,—' When shall I before Kṛṣṇa come? When there I come, to his foot would I dedicate the pupils of mine eyes.'
- 395. In the fancies of his heart great consolations found he. "To his blessed lot be victory! May he reveal himself to me before all others."

- 403. To Nanda his [foster-] father did Kṛṣṇa convey the message. 'The king hath with an invitation honoured you, you should accept. Right is it for us ourselves to attend the sacrificial feast.'
- 404. To the Captain of the Town did Nanda send the news, and proclamation had he made by beat of drum that at the royal invitation all should go.
- 405. At dawn they all assembled and set forth. The cowherds and their lads and all were there, for right was it to obey the king's command.

- 411. When Akrūra descended into the water that he might plunge therein, there there appeared before him Kṛṣṇa, who in that place revealed himself as All Creation.
- 412. There were all the gods his praises singing, Bhagavān himself his flute was playing, and Akrūra as he looked and looked again was filled with joy.
- 413. (Bhāg. Pu. xl.) Astonied did he rise from mid the waters, and at the feet of Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān he fell. Ignorance fled from him and he again to consciousness returned.
- 414. (Bhāg. Pu. xli.) So on the cowherds went and to the city came, with them in company all the lads. By Kṛṣṇa's courage were they filled with courage too.
- 415. To Kamsa Akrūra hastened, 'All of them have I together brought and come to thee', and as he heard these words into Kamsa's heart did trembling enter.

- 416. As Kṛṣṇa with the cowherds the city entered, all the folk of Mathurā came forth to see him, and in that city began they the gods to worship.
- 417. Kṛṣṇa went forward with the slow gait of a mighty elephant, and behind him followed running all the folk. Abandoning work and household toils they followed him.
- 418. The first one that he met was Kamsa's washerman. Him robbed he of all his burden of garments, and gave them to the cowherds to their huge delight.
- 419. One cowherd lad tieth a turban round his feet, another through the sleeves of a coat doth thrust his legs. What should cowherds know of a garment's name (or use)?
- 420. Thereon a devotee of Bhagavan came up to watch,—his name was Bhāyaka the weaver. Kṛṣṇa did he approach crying, 'Let me thee adorn.'
- 421. On Kṛṣṇa did Bhayaka put apparel, and Kṛṣṇa himself, like a cowherd lad, seemed naught to understand; for to the service of each devotee is Bhagavān devoted.
- 422. Verily high rose Bhāyaka's good fortune that he himself should Kṛṣṇa with garments clothe, and whatsoever boon he asked, that Kṛṣṇa gave him.
- 423. Then did Sudāman approach Kṛṣṇa, and with beauteous flowers did adorn his body, and, for a boon, asked this devotee for naught but pure devotion.
- 424. To him did Kṛṣṇa prosperity and salvation grant, 'With the grace of the true knowledge be thou illuminate. Exalted be thou in this world and in the world to come.'
- 425. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xlii.) On the road was Kṛṣṇa met by Kubjā, the hunchback girl. Bearing was she a vessel of powdered sandal. When she saw him, on his body did she apply it.

¹ For Sudāman, see further in chapter xlvii and also verse 253.

- 426. To Kamsa is she the sandal taking,—for such was her duty day,—and high exalted was her fate that her to Kṛṣṇa led.
- 427. How wondrous was the longing that Kubjā bare for him! By the devotion of that hunchbacked form well-pleased was he, and resolutely on her foot he placed his foot.
- 428. To her chin gave he a push, and so banished he her crookedness. Kubjā, the hunchback, became a comely damsel. Wondrous was the love for Kṛṣṇa that filled her heart.
- 429. The great bow that Kamsa owned, to that verily first of all did they bring Kṛṣṇa. It did he raise and into fragments break.
- 430. With a broken piece of the bow he began to smite all those of Kamsa who before him came, the mighty men whom Kamsa had set to bar his way.
- 431. (Bhag. Pu. X. xliii.) Then and there to oppose Kṛṣṇa came the maddened elephant. Of ten thousand elephants was his the might, and the drivers led him forth Kṛṣṇa's way to stop.
- 432. Like a clay elephant, a baby's toy, did Kṛṣṇa whirl him in the air. Then dragging it, with one fist-blow tore he out its life.
- 433. Then from the dead elephant tore he out its tusk, and for a weapon grasped he it in his hand. So into the arena did he stride.
- 434. The demon wrestlers saw him and upon him ran. Like an incarnate mountain to them he seemed, and then, I ween, did they understand, 'The boy Kṛṣṇa we shall ne'er o'ercome.'
- 435. To the quietists did he appear as incarnate Peace; as an incarnate Cupid did the women see him; and all the cowherds beheld but a cowherd lad.

¹ A mystic Being. In the Vedanta philosophy he is the Supreme Intellect loca-

- 436. To each king seemed he a mighty man of war, and at his royal fury did they tremble, trembling they dared not look at him.
- 437. To those who had the true knowledge appeared he as Virāj¹, the Essence of the asceticism of the great ascetics, who by the eye of knowledge with the Supreme Bráhma become one.
- 438. To each Yādava as a mighty monarch did he appear; to the gods did he appear as Bhagavān Himself. As each one looked, so did he seem to him.
- 439. To Kamsa did he appear as incarnate Death. Quaking and shaking like that of death did enter him. To each form that Kṛṣṇa took do I dedicate myself.
- 440. (Bhāg. X, xliv.) Muṣṭika and Cāṇūra set he to oppose him. By one fist-blow by Haladhara was Muṣṭika slain, and Cāṇūra's fate it was by Krsna to be killed.
- 441. Each valiant man that to meet Kṛṣṇa came, him with one fist-blow did Kṛṣṇa turn to dust, and at their slaughter high mounted Kamsa's wrath.
- 442. With the lads began Kṛṣṇa to dance, and up blazed Kamsa's heart. The command gave he forth that they should far away be driven.
- 443. High rose his wrath. Uprose he, and from on high forth did he cry, 'Seize ye him, seize ye him, vengeance will I take.'
- 444. Command gave he to seize the cowherds. 'Also let all the Yādavas be slain, after Dēvakī and Vasudēva ye have first done to death.

- 445. 'That ye may slav Dēvaka and Ugrasēna, seize ye Kṛṣṇa and Haladhara Rāma.' As he cried out, the blood in torrents rose into his face.
- 446. Kṛṣṇa arose and leaped upon him. On high was Kamsa as he came before him, and with the courage of despair he rose to fight.
- 447. Shield and sword grasped Kamsa in his hand, and face to face with Kṛṣṇa began he to contend. The whole earth was filled with fear of him.
- 448. Kamsa his body set not within reach of Kṛṣṇa's arms. Backwards and forwards gave he leap on leap, thinking, 'In some way shall I not the boy Kṛṣṇa overcome?'
- 449. Then his own glory showed forth Kṛṣṇa. Dazzling became he like ten million suns. On Kamsa blindness fell, and Kṛṣṇa seized him by the apple of his throat.
- 450. As he thus seized him, with one kick down dashed he his diadem. From his high place along the ground he dragged him low. Forth fled his life, and in the courtyard dead he lay.
- 451. In the palace arose there a wail of woe. Far abroad were all the Demons scattered, and all the gods sent down a rain of flowers.
- 452. Kamsa had eight brethren, Demons all, and these came forth together to the combat; but the whole eight did Haladhara slay.
- 453. Then came forth Kamsa's queens uncovered before Kṛṣṇa, and eke all the queens of the brethren eight, nor of their lamentations can the tale be told.
- 454. To his aunts did Kṛṣṇa consolation tend, and for his uncles' obsequies ritely did he prescribe. In sorrow for his uncles did he himself lament.

¹ This is explained by the Bhag. Pu. Devaki and Vasudeva recognized the incarnate Deity in their two sons, and instead of embracing them, as would have been natural, humbly saluted them. Kṛṣṇa then sent forth his illusion, so that

- 455. Reverence be to Kamsa's austerities ascetic, and eke to his haughty pride be reverence paid, for 'twas (through them) that he at Krsna's hand obtained salvation.
- 456. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do 1 offer lotuses.

 - XXII. KŖŖŅA RELEASES HIS PARENTS, AND REINSTATES UGRASĒNA ON HIS THRONE. THE DISMISSAL OF NANDA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xlv.)
- 458. Thereafter Kṛṣṇa approached his mother and his father, but him they did not recognize that he was their son, for to their minds he seemed a form of the Supreme Bráhma in all its fulness.
- 459. Then quoth Kṛṣṇa to his father, 'Wherefore dost thou not recognize us as thy sons? Each child should have a father and a mother. 1
- 460. 'Meet is it for me to do you service, else how can the debt to father and to mother e'er be repayed? At your lotus-feet do I humbly lay my head.'
- 461. Their gyves he burst asunder and consoled he them. Then did Vasudeva call to mind (the birth of his son), and he exulted as he arose and kissed him.
- 462. At the lotus-feet of Dēvakī his mother did Kṛṣṇa fall, and as though light had come to her (in darkness) began she to exult-Filled became she with a yearning love, and from her bosom milk welled forth.
- 463. Filled were the pair with mutual content, again and yet again do they fondle Haladhara-Rāma and Kṛṣṇa with their kisses.

they forgot their temporary recognition of the truth, and looked upon the boys as actually their sons in the flesh.

 $^{^2}$ According to Hindū ideas, a preceptor is a second father. His son is there- $104\,$

- 484. Garga 1 the Sage was he who chanted the Gāyatrī. Kṛṣṇa began duly to bathe and to perform the Evening Rite, and, as was meet, worship did he and holy texts recited.
- 485. Then to school did Vasudeva send the brothers, to a preceptor named Såndipani, and he to them of the sixty-four sciences the lore read forth.
- 486. Sixty-four days gave he him instruction, and so the four and sixty lores he taught. To his tuition Victory be ascribed!
- 487. To Kṛṣṇa's studies too be victory ascribed! To his discerning wit shall I not offer reverence! Reverence be to the telling of the tale by Śukadēva.
 - 488. Then the preceptor asked of them his teacher's fee, 'In the Ocean hath our son been drowned, and for that son, and him alone, make I my longing prayer.'
 - 489. For many a day had they, the teacher and his wife, been homed with sorrow for their son. Kṛṣṇa they held as Bhagavān, and so they made to him this prayer. So Kṛṣṇa, in duty to his preceptor bound, upon his shoulder took the task.
 - 490. He and his brother on their chariot mounted, and to the Ocean forth they sallied in quest of their teacher-brother². There did the Ocean, taking human form, at their feet prostrate himself.
 - 491. Into the Ocean Kṛṣṇa took a leap, and came forth thence, there having Śaṅkhâsura slain, and from his breast tore he the conch named Pañcajanya.
 - 492. This Pañcajanya conch to Bhagavān had in elden time belonged, but it that demon once had carried off. (And that had been permitted with but) this object that into Kṛṣṇa's hand the conch should come.
 - 493. Thereafter goeth he to Yama, the Regent (of the Limbo of the Dead), and still outside the palace sounded he the conch. Then, when he heard the blast, did Yama, the Lord of Justice, in his heart rejoice.

- 494. Barefoot came he forth to meet him, and to his feet he bowed himself; within he led him, and duly worshipped him. The teacher-brother brought he, and to Kṛṣṇa gave he him.
- 495. All this was done that all in Limbo might be saved; for at the sound of the blast of the Pancajanya conch salvation gained they all. So with his teacher-brother Krsna went his way.
- 496. To his preceptor gave he the light of his eyes, and at the feet of his teacher-father and his teacher-mother did he fall. Then he their blessing took and home returned.

XXIV. UDDITAVA'S MISSION. (Bhāg. Pu. X, xlvi.)

- 499. Longing for Gōkula to Kṛṣṇa came. To his mind came a memory of Nanda and Yaśōdā and of the love the herd-damsels bare him.
- 500. To comfort them sent he Uddhava, and to hearten them by the teaching of the true knowledge. 'Let them', quoth he 'abandon all anxiety of mind.'
- 501. When Uddhava to Gökula came, Nanda found he as though crazed by sorrow for his son, and of Yaśōdā naught can be described.
- 502. The herd-lads and the herd-wives all were sad distraught. Sighing 'Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa' all were wrapt in Kṛṣṇa's name.
- 503. Ever and anon would Nanda ask, 'To his father and his mother doeth he now suit and service? Long may he live! Again will he ever call us to his mind?

- 504. 'To his mind doth ever come his foster-mother, she in whose arms he was wont to frolic struggling night and day? Have his playmates since those days been in his heart?'
- 505. When on Kṛṣṇa's deeds they began to think, as they thought they lost all consciousness, and to Uddhava it seemed that soon will they abandon life.
- 506. Words void of truth was he compelled to tell them. 'After me doth Kṛṣṇa follow on,' and, when that they heard, life again their bodies entered.
- 507. When the tale of Kṛṣṇa's coming came upon her ears, the bosom of Yaśōdā filled with milk, and tears in floods to weep did she begin.
- 508. To the herd-damsels and to Yaśōdā did Uddhava put forth his tongue to tell the way of Knowledge, 'To the Soul Supreme be ye devoted all.
- 509. That Self which pervadeth all that moveth and all that moveth not that Self that abideth in each hair of them that Knowledge have, to that Self indiscrete, body and soul do ye yourselves devote.'
- 510. But into the mind of the herd-damsels naught entered of his knowledge. For love of Kṛṣṇa lamentations poured they forth. How could speech issue from their mouths to Uddhava?
- 511. They would begin to tell him of Kṛṣṇa's frolics, and as they spake of him, all consciousness would they lose. To Kṛṣṇa each and all did they dedicate themselves.
- 512. From Uddhava began they to implore a blessing. 'Ever may love for Kṛṣṇa, and him alone, in our hearts wax more and more, and him alone may we ever in our memories keep.'
- faith. No system of dry philosophy can bring the seeker to it. Uddhava tries to console them by philosophy, but soon finds his error, and is converted by them to the Way of Love.

- 513. Then from Uddhava did the egoism of knowledge flee. Cried he, 'If such a thing as loving devotion be, then that is what the damsels of the herd possess,' and at their feet he fell.
- 514. For sooth to that Uddhava had it to be shown how great the love and how great the devotion are that must be cherished, and with what yearning for Bhagavān he should be full filled.
- 515. When Uddhava turned back to go to Mathurā to him did they dedicate themselves. Butter and milk for Kṛṣṇa did they give him, for butter and milk had the boy Kṛṣṇa loved.
- 516. To Kṛṣṇa did he come and tell him all, 'Exalted above all be the herd damsels. May every devotee have such devotion.'

- 520. Once on a day it came to Kṛṣṇa's mind, 'That day to Kubjā a promise did I give, and I must go, and with my presence make her house adorned.'
- 521. No need for cark or care concerning Bhagavān. To true devotion ever hath he been the slave. To me, the feeble wight, true devotion may he too vouchsafe.

- 542. Time and time again the Pāṇḍavas he harassed, yet could they not to him show enmity. His tyranny they could not thole, and filled were they with sorrow.
- 543. To Dhṛtarāṣṭra then Akrūra went. Quoth he, 'Prithee in justice do thou rule. Look equally upon thy son and on thy nephew.'
- 544. With Kṛṣṇa's tongue began he then to speak, for for himself had he no power to raise his voice, and to him Dhṛṭarāṣṭra made reply, 'To Kṛṣṇa's feet I dedicate myself.'
- 545. 'What can I do? my lads are out of hand, nor are my nephews of my eyes the light. Upon my sons prevail I cannot, what can I say to whom?'
- 546. Thus did Akrūra see the doings there, and back to Kṛṣṇa did he return. To him of the Pāṇḍavas and Kauravas the tale he told, and of the plaint that Mother Kuntī made.

EXVII. THE WAR WITH JABASANDHA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, l, li.)

550. Of Magadha was Jarāsandha king, a demon he, and two daughters he possessed. Them to Kamsa in wedlock had he given.

- 551. When Kṛṣṇa Kaṁsa of his life had robbed, dear (i.e. extreme) grief on Jarāsandha fell, as his widowed daughters came and to him unfolded of their woes the tale.
- 552. 'In these days like to thee there is no king. On thy rule be shame! On thy rule the cowherd lads have cast disgrace.'
- 553. On that great demon cast they shame. With thirty armies all complete then marched he forth, and hastened on with Kṛṣṇa to contend.
- 554. In Mathurā trembling entered every Yādava when Jaräsandha his host dispatched, and 'Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa! Save us! save us!' began they to implore.
- 555. When Kṛṣṇa saw them, then he became attent, and from the sky there came before him two chariots studded with gold and jewels like the sun.
- 556. In one were weapons that for Kṛṣṇa were, the other for Haladhara held the arms. With each were armour and a charioteer.
- 557. The brothers twain their armour donned. Then sat they in their chariots, and a few Yādavas took they with themselves.
- 558. When to the battle front they came, the host of demons Kṛṣṇa did surround, and thus to him did Jarāsandha speak.
- 559. 'Boy, hearken to my rede, and flee thou home. If thou wilt not, then know that from my hand no shift can save thee. On Haladhara, too, (if him I slay not), how can I have trust?'
- 560. Kṛṣṇa replied, 'Say that to thyself. Know that thine army is as good as dead, and thee alone shall I let go alive.'

- 561. Wrath seized the demon and he advanced to fight. All the host joined in combat hand to hand, and Krana saw that he must raise his bow.
- 562. At the bow's mere twang, to die did they begin, and Haladhara too set to to slay. Then in that single moment on them fell destruction.
- 563. Great rivers of blood began to flow. In them, like fishes, round and round floated arms and legs, and on the battlefield Jarasandha alone remained.
- 564. Him Haladhara seized and before Kṛṣṇa brought. 'Tell me, O Kṛṣṇa, what shall I do to him?' And to release him Kṛṣṇa gave command.
- 565. 'Of many a deed to do on his shoulder lieth still the burden. Again will he come with such a host as this, when he remembereth that all his men (to-day) have fled.'

- 571. Again the war to wage did he make ready. (This was allowed) that Kṛṣṇa might relieve the burden of the earth; else at the first would he (by death) salvation have received.
- 572. When into Jarāsandha's mind it came, 'Will he once more from out my hand escape,'—for such was the longing that greatly filled his heart,—
- 573. Once on a day to the demon king came Nārada, and at his sight life, as it were, did Jarāsandha enter, as he thought, 'Surely through Nārada will my longing meet success.'
- 574. To Nārada did Jarāsandha offer reverence meet, and of the fulfilment of his longing craved the boon. Then Nārada with courtesy consented.
- 575. So Jarāsandha took up his parable and said, 'Time after time disgraced I flee from him. Ne'er over that cowherd, Kṛṣṇa, do I aught prevail.
- 576. 'Tell me some means for putting him to flight, that he but once from me may flee. Thy word must necessarily be fulfilled.'
- 577. Nārada, Prince of Sages, granted him the boon. 'This time will he himself before thee flee; in fear of thee, the ocean will he make his home.'
- 578. Thus him he favoured, and the way he showed. 'Of Kābul is Kālayavana' a puissant king; against his power can no one e'er prevail.
- 579. 'Rudra hath given him a mighty course; quaking will enter the Yādavas at his hand, nor will it be in Kṛṣṇa's power to confront him.
- 580. 'If with thyself thou takest him to battle, Kṛṣṇa himself will fain betake to flight. Make no delay, but send a message to the king.'

¹ This is a tree which grows in Indra's paradise. Its flowers have an unearthly fragrance. Nārada commonly wears a garland of them. See also verses 772 ff.

- 581. As these words entered Jarasandha's mind, to Nārada thus made he his reply, 'O Mentor mine, thine is this work, I trow. Who other is there to whom the tale to tell?'
- 582. Also to this did Nārada consent, and so to Kābul he his message took. There so did he arrive that no one marked his coming.
- 583. But from the garland of Pārijāta ¹ flowers, fragrance exceeding from his neck exhaled. So was he recognized, and at his feet the king bowed down.
- 584. From him did Kalayavana the news inquire, and Narada the plight of Jarasandha told. 'Upon thy mercy hath he thrown himself, and thus it be thy duty to protect him.'
- 585. Then in his heart did Kālayavana rejoice: 'A monarch great as Jarāsandha with me refuge seeketh. When one hath come to seek for refuge, then sheltered must be be.'
- 586. Then himself did Kālayavana bestir, from Kābul set he forth with all his host; from but the urine of his horses whole rivers 'gan to flow.
- 587. To Balabhadra then doth Kṛṣṇa say, 'Now hath come Kāla-yavana. If thou go forth to meet him, who knoweth but Jarāsandha may behind thee against the city come.'
- 588. Then called he the Ocean to his mind and at his feet he fell. From him he begged a site for Dvārakā,—for twelve leagues of the dry ocean shore.
- 589. To Viśvakarman² gave he a command. 'A city, Dvārakā must thou cause to be.' (So was it made, nor) can its glory be described.

Garga was Kṛṣṇa's family priest and Guru, or spiritual preceptor. See verse 127. Kṛṣṇa therefore was bound to be polite to his son, and could not kill him 126

- 590. What sort of home for Bhagavān is fit? For his kingdom, how glorious should the city be! With gold and pearls and diamond-jewels did he fill it.
- 591. To Indra, to Kuvēra, and to Varuņa, yea, to all them in heaven who abide, tribute to pay to Dvārakā there fell.
- 592. Then called he lovingly Illusion to his mind. To her a message he spake, and all the folk of Mathurā to Dvārakā she brought. At night went they to sleep at Mathurā. At dawn in Dvārakā they woke.
- 593. Then saw they Dvārakā on Ocean's shore; there had they all arrived from Mathurā, and to Bhagavān's Illusive Power themselves they dedicated.
- 594. (Bhāg. Pu. X, li.) From Mathurā went forth Kṛṣṇa Kālayavana to meet, and first (in graciousness) revealed he himself to him in his four-armed form. To Garga's 1 son how could he not show grace?
- 595. By Kālayavana was Kṛṣṇa recognized. Away he threw his weapons and, to show respect, advanced. Body and soul in meditation on Kṛṣṇa was he absorbed.
- 596. Having thus shown himself in wondrous guise Kṛṣṇa began to flee and Kālayavana after him pursued, for in his heart his longing was to grasp him with his hand.
- 597. Or ever his hand reached him, Kṛṣṇa increased his speed, and Kālayavana after him pursued, until a mountain Kṛṣṇa reached.
- 598. There entered he a cave and hid himself, where Mucukunda, the king, lay sunk in sleep, but Kālayavana thought that he was Kṛṣṇa.

¹ Kalayavana, being the son of Garga, Kṛṣṇa's spiritual teacher, was therefore Kṛṣṇa's 'Teacher brother'. See note to verse 490.

² According to Hindū chronology there are four yugas, or ages., viz. the Satya, or Golden, Age, lasting 1,728,000 years, followed by the Trēta, or Silver, Age, lasting 1,296,000 years, then the Dvāpara, or Copper, Age, lasting 864,000 years, and then

- 599. Up to that time his senses had been clear. Into the cave the demon came to fight, 'For now,' thought he, 'I have mine enemy.'
- 600. In pride the demon gave forth a roar, but still King Mucukunda ne'er awoke, and Kālayavana kicked him with the shout, 'Arise and fight! Why hast thou entered here to hide thyself?'
- 601. Then, through that kick, did sleep flee from Mucukunda, and from his eyes there issued fire. Therewith to ashes was Kālayavana consumed
- 602. For needs must Bhagavān a pretext seek, for how could he himself his Teacher-brother 1 slay, and how else compass his destruction?
- 603. Now Mucukunda in the Golden Age was king, and all the gods did he duly worship. Once, for a space, he went and dwelt in the gods' heaven itself.
- 604. There to a great age did he live, and (of his earthly life) lost memory. Thereafter was his entire family destroyed, and when at last from heaven he departed, granted the gods to him a boon.
- 605. Quoth he to them, 'Now no desire have I in my heart, and fain would I my legs stretch out and sleep, secure that no man e'er will wake me from my slumber.'
- 606. The gods in their love gave him that very boon. 'Naught shalt thou do but sleep until the Copper Age.² Then, through incarnate Kṛṣṇa, enter thou Death, the gateway of salvation.'
- 607. That time at length to Mucukunda came. How wondrous were the pretext and the mode by which salvation he attained! Man's intellect to Krsna's deeds will ne'er attain.

the Kali, or present Iron, Age, lasting 432,000 years. As Kṛṣṇa lived at the end of the Dvāpara Age, Mucukunda must have slept during a part of the Satya Age, through the whole of the Trēta Age, and through the greater part of the Dvāpara Age, and his sleep must have lasted for more than two million years.

XXVIII. THE HISTORY OF KALAYAVANA. (Viṣṇu Purāṇa,1 V, xxiii.)

- 614. The birth of Kālayavana must now be told,—how Garga the sage became his sire, and how, being Teacher-brother, he came Krsna to pursue.
- 615. Garga the sage was clan-priest of the Yādavas. Under a rule of chastity ne'er had he marriage made, but natheless sought the Yādavas the family of their clan-priest to establish.
- 616. They desired that he should marry, but being under the rule of chastity he heeded not, nor could they any wise persuade him to agree.

- 617. One day, as they conversed, they mocked at him, 'Our priest is or a woman or a eunuch, or wherefore doth he not desire to wed.'
- 618. Then anger hot in Garga's heart arose, and to beget a son his mind he fixed,—a son whose fear should strike the Yadu clan.
- 619. On Kābul border sacred to Rudra was a holy spot, thither he went and made austerities till Śańkara 1 revealed himself to him.
- 620. From Rudra then only this boon he craved, 'Grant thou to me a very mighty son, who will cause fear to strike the Yadu clan.'
- 621. Gracious to him was Mahādēva, and granted he that selfsame boon. Acquiring it to Kābul did he wend, and, through his god-inspired energy, in the city glory shone.
- 622. In Kābul Yauvanâśva was the king. Sonless was he, and so was filled with woe, but, at the sight of Garga, into joy he came.
- 623. In longing for a son, to Garga his daughter did he give, 'For thereby will my kingdom be established.' Moreover such was Garga's wish, and how could he refuse?
- 624. After due time a son was born to Garga, and Kālayavana his name was called. Then Garga did depart, and to an anchorite's life again betook himself.
- 625. When the heroic Kālayavana's grandfather died, into his hand there passed the rule of Kābul. Through Rudra's boon no one his equal was.
- 626. To him came his (fated) time, and Kṛṣṇa did he meet, and when to him did Kṛṣṇa himself reveal, then did Kālayavana obtain salvation. To the revelation of Kṛṣṇa ever do I dedicate myself.

- 627. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lii.) Thereafter did Kṛṣṇa Kālayavana's entire host destroy, and thus by this means and by that did he from its load of woe the earth relieve, the while he from the plunder endless wealth did gain.
- 628. And next Jarāsandha did he confront, and as they saw him, so did Jarāsandha's troops to flight betake themselves. But natheless must Krsna Nārada's pledge redeem.
- 629. Upon a mountain peak did he and Haladhara ascend, as Jarāsandha after them pursued and marked the brothers how upon the peak they clomb.
- 630. And like an arrow to Jarāsandha's mind there came percipience. 'For once hath the cowherd Kṛṣṇa fled before me,' and body and soul to Nārada made he reverence.
- 631. The mountain then did Jarāsandha set on fire, 'So amid this will I the twain consume.' But Kṛṣṇa laid his toe upon the peak.
- 632. And down to hell descended then the peak, while he and Haladhara gave an easy leap and so departed. Thence reached they Dyāraka and in their home abode.
- 633. To his own home returned Jarāsandha jubilant, and full of happiness resumed his rule, for now delay had come to him who was his Death.
- 634. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XXIX. BALABHADRA WEDS REVATI THE RAPE OF RUKMIŅĪ. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lii-liv.)

- 636. Plump was the damsel, in the prime of youth, and Haladhara still was but a boy. Thus to him came the budding maiden as his fated wife.
- 637. The dowry given with her who can count? Chariots, horses, elephants, maid-slaves all adorned. High festival was held, and how can tongue describe it?
- 638. Now must be told of Kṛṣṇa the first espousals. Lo, to the feast, ye Faithful, are ye called. Lend ye your ears. Each deed of Kṛṣṇa cometh full of love.
- 639. Of the land of Vidarbha was Bhīṣmaka the king. He had a daughter namèd Rukmiṇī, and her did he desire to give to Kṛṣṇa.
- 640. But his son Rukma did not to this assent. 'King Śiśupāla of us is worthy, he alone is great,' and he himself to Śiśupāla did a message send.
- 641. Then Rukma's father, mother, kin, and brethren all deplored. 'Worthy is Rukmin of Kṛṣṇa and of him alone,' but o'er the brainless Rukma could they not prevail.
- 642. Behold, of Laksmi is Rukmini the incarnation. For Kṛṣṇa only hath she come to birth. So secretly to Kṛṣṇa sent she news.
- 643. A Brāhmana brought the letter, and quoth he, 'By her own hand was this epistle writ. To me, a Brāhmana, hath she given it, and (for an answer) doth she scan the roads.'
- 644. When before Kṛṣṇa came the Brāhmaṇa, Kṛṣṇa the letter read and forthwith armour donned, while to the Brāhmaṇa honour did he show and gifts of money gave.
- 645. (Bhāg. Pu. X, liii.) At once home was he dispatched and with him by Kṛṣṇa was this message sent. 'Know thou that first of all will I arrive.' Then said he to the Brāhmaṇa, 'To her must thou the fullest consolation give.'

- 646. To Rukmini the Brāhmana returned, and by a beck the answer-message told. Then bowed she down to him, and to her full (understanding) came.
- 647. In boasting mood to the nuptials did Śiśupāla come, and with him brought he Jarāsandha too, as Rukmiņī for Kṛṣṇa scanned the roads.
- 648. From his abode went Kṛṣṇa forth as though the wedding festival to see, and in due course Vidarbha-land he reached. Rukmini heard the news, and with joy was she full filled.
- 649. Now Haladhara Rāma followed Kṛṣṇa, 'Who knoweth but some fighting might have place,' and four great kings with Śiśupāla came.
- 650. Kṛṣṇa was there as though a mere spectator of the festival and of the wedding robes of Śiśupāla; and, ere Śiśupāla came, did he arrive.
- 651. To Kṛṣṇa did Bhīṣmaka draw near, and to him ritely reverence proffer. [Against Śiśupāla] had he no resort, so what could he to Kṛṣṇa say?
- 652. When at the city arrived Sisupāla, Rukma to meet him sent out all the folk, and chowries and fans waved he before him.
- 653. Rukmini for Kṛṣṇa doth expectant wait, and from the other side for her did Kṛṣṇa wait, watching to see by what wile he should bear her off.
- 654. A customary rite there was to go to Dēvī's temple, and thither first of all went forth the bride, while Śiśupāla, with the kings that bare him company, stood awaiting her.
- 655. From Dēvī cravèd Rukmiņī a boon, 'May Kṛṣṇa, Bhagavān himself, for his bride take me. To Śiśupāla may'st thou dire confusion give.'

- 656. As Rukmini to descend the steps began, and from the temple issued, showing herself to the folk standing round, looking was she to see how her could Kṛṣṇa reach.
- 657. By giddiness was seized Śiśupāla, senseless did he become before the puissance of her glory, and all the kings that bare him company did lose their wit.
- 658. Then near did Kṛṣṇa come and into his chariot her uplift, and Rukmiṇī too began swift haste to make, till from the crowd the horses had emerged, and they could speed away.
- 659. Thus Kṛṣṇa gained the victory and rejoiced, and Rukmiṇī in her heart exulted, as Śiśupāla again to senses came, and forthwith after them pursued.
- 660. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxiv.) Him did Haladhara confront and him defeat, and in the moment routed all his folk. Hundreds of thousands of them died, and there escaped but few.
- 661. Crest-fallen Śiśupāla fled, as flees the jackal at the lion's roar, and with him fled a many mighty kings.
- 662. To Rukma 'twas as though had been shaved off his beard, nor could he in his shame thole the disgrace, and to the battle after Krsna did he run.
- 663. Kṛṣṇa turned back, and all his troops he slew. Rukma he seized and him would fain have killed, but Rukmiṇī for him did hard entreaty make.
- 664. Off shaved he his beard and let him go; so Rukma humbled and ashamed turned back. Without the city did he stay, and there lamented.
- 665. Unhindered Kṛṣṇa to Dvārakā returned, and Lakṣmī thus became Nārāyaṇa's bride, the while in Dvārakā was the spousal festival prepared.

² According to all other authorities Jāmbavat was king of the bears, not of the monkeys. Similarly, in the Kāshmīrī Rāmāyaṇa, the word ponzu, which ordinarily means 'monkey,' is used to mean 'bear.'

- 666. Many were the Brāhmaņas who the Vēdas recited at the wedding of Kṛṣṇa and of Rukmiṇī, when Nārāyaṇa of Lakṣmī took the hand.
- 667. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

 - XXX. THE SYAMANTAKA. THE MARRIAGES WITH JAMBAVATI AND SATYABHAMA. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lvi, lvii.)
- 669. Kṛṣṇa hath made a second marriage. The damsel of high fortune was of Jāmbavat, the monkey-king,² the daughter, and this is how she Kṛṣṇa's fated spouse became.
- 670. A certain man named Satrājit ³ did great austerity, and paid devotion to the Sun. He was a Yādava, held in honour high.
- 671. Gracious to him became the Sun, and to him [the Syamantaka], a jewel, gave. Eight loads of gold a day did it produce, and its sheen was like unto the splendour of the sun.
- 672. Quoth to him Kṛṣṇa, 'What with it wilt thou do? King Ugrasēna would this well befit.' But how could he give it up? For himself he kept it.
- 673. Once on a day his brother [Prasena] came to him and took the jewel, and with it in the forest wandered. There did a lion slay him and the jewel carry off.

³ So the name is spelt in the usual texts and in the Sanskrit Dictionaries. According to our author, it was Satrujit, and, in the Viṣṇu Purāṇa there is a variant reading with this spelling. In the translation I adhere to the customary form.

¹ Compare Crooke, Introduction to the Popular Religion and Folklore of Northern India, p. 9. Whoever looks at the new moon of the month Bhādrapada (August-September) 'will be the victim of false accusations during the ensuing year. The only way to avoid this is to perform a sort of penance by getting someone to shy brickbats at your house, which at other times is regarded as an extreme form of

- 674. There verily did Jāmbavat upon the lion hap, and with a single cuff tore out his life. The jewel took he up and went his way.
- 675. Against Kṛṣṇa did Satrājit an accusation bring, 'My brother hath he slain, and the jewel hath he ta'en away.' And all the folk to take it on their tongue ashamèd are.
- 676. Now Kṛṣṇa the fourth moon of Bhādrapada had looked upon, and this was the fruit thereof, that a false charge was brought against him.
- 677. This Kṛṣṇa heard, and forth a-seeking went he. 'Fain would I see what of this the outcome was.' Followed by all the folk a-seeking went he to the forest.

¹ According to the Bhāgavata Purāṇa, the visit of Kṛṣṇa was occasioned, not by Pāṇḍu's death, but by the attempted murder of the Pāṇḍavas in the famous lac 146

- 683. Jāmbavatī the daughter was of Jāmbavat, and her on Kṛṣṇa did he bestow, and thus of Kṛṣṇa did she become the spouse.
- 684. To Kṛṣṇa gave he that jewel as the dower of the bride, and also there all else that was, that too he gave. So thus the second nuptials of Kṛṣṇa came to pass.
- 685. A great while in that cave stayed Kṛṣṇa. The waiting Yādavas all returned home, and Kṛṣṇa, bringing his spouse, by himself came back.
- 686. Kṛṣṇa to Satrājit, the Yādava, the jewel gave, and he, on hearing the true tale, was filled with shame. Quoth he, 'I also to Kṛṣṇa will my daughter give.'
- 687. He had a daughter Satyabhāmā hight, and, with the jewel, on Kṛṣṇa did he her bestow, but Kṛṣṇa took not the jewel, and to him gave it back.
- 688. Thus came to pass Kṛṣṇa's espousals three, to Rukmiṇi, to Jāmbavatī, and to Satyabhāmā, and to his mighty deeds do I myself as offering devote.

XXXI. SATADHANVAN AND THE SYAMANTAKA. (Bhāg. Pu. X,lvii.)

- 689. Pāṇḍu, the father of the Pāṇḍavas died,¹ and of it told they Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa went the Pāṇḍavas to visit. After that (while he was still away), Śatadhanvan slew Satrājit.
- 690. 'Twas for that jewel's sake that death came to Satrājit, so Satyabhāmā (to Delhi) followed Kṛṣṇa (and told him of her father's fate), and thus had Kṛṣṇa to return home again.
- 691. This Satadhanvan heard, and straightway away he fled, but first the jewel made he over to Akrūra, and to Kāśi did Akrūra take it.

¹ Kāśī and Benares are two names of the same city.

² So also Haladhara Rāma and Bala-bhadra are both names of Kṛṣṇa's elder brother.

³ The poet glosses over the part taken by Akrūra. This pious gentleman was one of the persons who incited Satadhanvan to commit the murder. We read in

- 692. There, in Benares, began he to make pious gifts, each day the eight loads of gold gave he in charity, and of his gifts to all countries sped the news.
- 693. Kṛṣṇa on Śatadhanvan followed hard. He caught him, felled him, and his head cut off. Then sought he, but nowhere on him could he find the jewel.
- 694. Then Haladhara Rāma wroth became, thinking that Kṛṣṇa had given the jewel to Satyabhāmā, and wroth did she too become, thinking that he had given it to Bala-bhadra.²
- * 695. Then heard they that Akrūra pious gifts was giving, and so they knew that into his hand had the jewel come. So Kṛṣṇa sent a message to Akrūra.³
- 696. To Kṛṣṇa did Akrūra bring the jewel, all the anxiety of everyone departed, and all the calamities of Dvārakā took to flight.
- 697. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 698. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XXXII. THE MARRIAGE WITH KALINDI. (Bhag. Pu. X,xlviii.)

- 699. There be yet a fourth espousal of Kṛṣṇa. To visit the Kauravas and the Pāṇḍavas did he go, and thence with a wife did he return.
- 700. (Beside the visit just set forth⁴) he had again to go to Delhi, for on that occasion he had had to depart without meeting (his relations). So again went he to Delhi, and forth came they to welcome him.

the Bhāgavata Purāṇa how famine and other calamities overtook Dvārakā when Akrūra took away the jewel to Benares. Wherever it went there the land had bounteous rain. On its return to Dvāraka all the calamities occasioned by its absence disappeared. This is referred to in the next verse.

- 701. They all assembled and ritely worshipped him. In many a varied way did they show to him devotion, and then, having saluted each, he went forth on a stroll.
- 702. With Arjuna his companion strolled he forth, and to the Yamunā bank he went to quench his thirst. When the two had so quenched their thirst around did they begin to walk.
- 703. There saw they a damsel in austerities absorbed. She was the daughter of the sun, Kālindī hight.
- 704. Many a day had run its course in her austerities, which with devotion she had practised resolute, praying that she might be the spouse of Kṛṣṇa.
- 705. Her did he see, and thus it was her lot to become chosen of Kṛṣṇa, he who himself is Bhagavān, the Chooser and the Boon Bestower. The boon he gave her had its fulfilment due, and thus she came to Kṛṣṇa as his spouse.

XXXIII. THE MARRIAGE WITH MITRABHADRA. (Bhag. Pu. X,lviii,31.)

XXXIV. THE MARRIAGE WITH SATYA. (Bhag. Pu. X,lviii, 32.)

- 714. To Ayōdhyā once did Kṛṣṇa wend his way. Of there the king was named Nagnajit, and when he heard the news, forth went he to welcome Kṛṣṇa.
- 715. Through the palace gate did he lead him. Honour to him did he show, and ritely to him did he offer worship. Thus in the palace rose high festival.
- 716. The monarch had a daughter, Satyā hight. She from the roof-pavilion issued forth to see the festival. On Kṛṣṇa fell her gaze, and to him did she lose her heart.
- 717. So then from God a blessing did she crave, 'Grant me the fruit of virtuous acts and of my deeds in lives long past, that Kṛṣṇa's spouse I may become'.
- 718. Kṛṣṇa fulfilled the longing of her soul. He is himself Bhagavān, the Inward Monitor. From the king did he ask her, and how could he not consent.
- 719. Great good fortune deemed it the Rājā, and at Kṛṣṇa's feet he bowed himself. But meanwhile somewhat of delay did he impose, 'I have a vow, and that vow must I keep.'

- 720. Seven bulls had he fixed as the condition of consent. 'He who at the one time may hold them to his breast, only to such a hero can I the damsel give.'
- 721. Many a king had homeward gone ashamed, for who could seven bulls seize at once? 'Twas as though he had been waiting for Krsna (to carry out the task).
- 722. To Kṛṣṇa did the king show deference great, 'In thy presence to say aught it is not meet, but, of a surety, am I not bound a solemn oath to keep?'
- 723. Before Kṛṣṇa what were seven bulls, he to whom subject are the seven worlds? High were the Rājā's hopes, and he spake truth to him
- 724. Quoth he to him, 'Drive sorrow from my heart, and, prithee, of my duty the command obey. Then of my daughter high will rise the happy lot.'
- 725. Kṛṣṇa then multiplied himself in seven-fold form, and so to himself brought near the seven bulls. Thus to the king came solace and joyful did he wax.
- 726. The damsel gave he him in wedlock with all due rite as befitteth kings, and dowry gave he countless wealth and jewels.
- 727. With her gave he thousands of maid-servants and of elephants, hundreds of thousands of chariots and of horses. When Bhagavān was his son-in-law, how could he not bestow them?
- 728. Arjuna Dēva Kṛṣṇa had accompanied. Of all the brother [Pāṇḍavas] was he to him most dear, and as it were a loyal slave to him.
- 729. When Kṛṣṇa set forth upon his journey home, on the road came there other kings to stop his way, and it was Arjuna's destiny to vanquish each and all.

- 730. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lviii, 56,57.) By svayamvara 1 came Bhadrā to Kṛṣṇa as a spouse, and, again, was he himself chosen by Lakṣmaṇā. Thus eight chief queens to Kṛṣṇa came.

XXXV. THE ADVENTURES OF PRADYUMNA. (Bhag. Pu. X,lv.)

- 734. In course of time to Kṛṣṇa was born a son. First, like a crest-jewel, was he born of Rukmiṇī, and in keeping with his horoscope named they him Pradyumna.
- 735. In him did Kāmadēva (the Indian Cupid) become incarnate, for Kāmadēva the offspring was of Lakṣmī, who was one with Rukminī, and he was born of her.
- 736. There was a demon dwelling by the sea named Sambara. Once on a day Pradyumna did he steal away, and into the ocean cast he him.
- 737. There was he swallowed by a fish. That fish in a net was caught. It did the fisherman to Sambara bring. To his cook did Sambara give it to prepare his meal.
- 738. When the cook cut it open, from it before him issued forth a lad. Him did the cook make over to a servant-maid. Now she was Rati (the Indian Psyche) taking human form to seek her spouse.

- 739. Pradyumna was incarnate Kāmadēva, and to Rati had Mahādēva given the boon, that through Kṛṣṇa should she again obtain her lord.¹
- 740. From the time that Mahādēva had him to ashes burnt, from that time ever had she been making quest, that somehow into her hand her lord might come.
- 741. Then Rati marvelled when she saw the lad. In form more glorious was he than a dozen suns. Then came to her Nārada and told her all the truth.
- 742. Also to Rukminī went he, and bade her be of good cheer. 'Thy son, in very self, will come to thee. In very self will he near thee frolic.'
- 743. When into Rati's hand thus came her lord, with mickle love and longing did she cherish him, and his strength revive on aliment of milk and ghī.
- 744. When with Rati into consciousness he came, the whole tale did she tell him. 'Thou art my lord, and here thy wife am I. Sambara must thou slay, then safe can we depart.'
- 745. Once on a day at Śambara hurled Pradyumna cannon-balls, and Śambara learning (who had done this) came forth to fight him. Then all his army did Pradyumna slay.
- 746. Thereafter cut he off the demon's head, and husband and wife set forth to Dvārakā, while Rati served as chariot for Pradyumna.
- 747. Into the sky flew she and carried him, and when to Dvārakā they came, down on the ground did they alight. Then took she a woman's form of peerless beauty.

maid was named Māyāvatī (Bhāg. Pu. lv.) According to the Vishņu Purāņa, she was Śambara's wife, not a maid-servant, (Trans. Wilson-Hall, V, pp. 73ff.). The Bhāg. Pu. does not say who she was.

- 748. Husband and wife entered Dvārakā unhindered, but by the mothers naught was understood, that Rati was present together with the welfare (i.e. the son) of Kṛṣṇa.
- 749. Then all the task on Nārada's shoulder fell. He told them all the wondrous tale and went his way. Then Rukmiṇī her son did recognize, and so rejoiced.
- 750. Happy became the mothers in the daughter-in-law and in the son. All of them came and him did they embrace, and so did all the daughter-in-law embrace.
- 751. But ten days had Pradyumna been born when from Rukmini him Sambara carried off. To him, illustrious hero, may there be victory!

- 754. Of an Island in the Ocean was Bhauma, the Demon Asura, the ruler, and gods and men did he oppress.
- 755. When the austerities of the demon to an end had come, he then arose, and upon Indra fell, and of (Aditi), Indra's mother, the earrings did he carry off.
- 756. To Kṛṣṇa Indra came, and against Bhauma did he make complaint. 'Except with thee, for me against him there is no resource.'

- 757. Kṛṣṇa to Indra gave encouragement. On Garuḍa¹ mounted he and on Bhauma fell. (Of Bhauma's fortress) were the surrounding ramparts of glass by Māyā² built.
- 758. Of the sixth rampart the demon Mura was the guardian, and the six ramparts did Kṛṣṇa shatter. Then from amid the water issued Mura.
- 759. First of all Kṛṣṇa did he confront, but Kṛṣṇa seized him and cut off his head, and then his son and all his horde he slew.
- 760. Then to the combat Bhauma did himself come forth, many arrays of demons bringing with him, and against Kṛṣṇa he began to fight.
- 761. But Kṛṣṇa vanquished Bhauma's people all. Some took to flight, others were spain, and others wounded lay. Bhauma alone remained and he stood up to fight.
- 762. So Kṛṣṇa seized him and his head cut off. Then in the city a great cry arose and on his household sorrow fell.
- 763. To Kṛṣṇa Bhauma's mother came, and with her grandson at his feet she fell. 'To thee as sanctuary have I brought him, and for protection do I crave.'
- 764. Into the heart of Kṛṣṇa mercy came, and to the lad gave he his father's kingdom, for, though of that demon born, a godly man was he.
- 765. Kṛṣṇa, the victory having gained, the city entered. Sixteen thousand damsels from their bonds did he release, and all became the luck-blessed (wives) of Kṛṣṇa.

¹ Some came from the world of gods, some from the world of demons, and some from the world of men.

For Satyabhāmā, see verse 687. She was Kṛṣṇa's favourite and spoilt wife. 164

- 766. These were fair damsels of the threefold worlds ¹, who thither by the demon Bhauma had been brought. When twenty thousand he should collect, it had his purpose been to wed them all.
- 767. On Kṛṣṇa fell their gaze, and his became their hearts. To Bhagavān went they, and in him refuge took; and they began each to pray that Kṛṣṇa, and he alone, might be her lord.
- 768. To fulfil longings is Bhagavān's delight, and thus the desires of the maidens he fulfilled. To Dvārakā he sent them, that he might wed them there.
- 769. All the elephants and horses, and wealth and chariots that Bhauma had possessed, all that did he collect and give to them, and full of joy at Dvārakā did they arrive.
- 770. He himself to Indra's heaven set forth. Thither brought he and restored the plundered earrings, and ritely to him did Indra proffer worship.
- 771. The gods all flowers began to rain and in heaven's city arose high festival, as at the demon's downfall they exulted.
- 772. Along with Kṛṣṇa Satyabhāmā was, and with him also had he taken Aniruddha. To Satyabhāmā had to be given the Pārijāta tree. ²
- 773. In the heavenly region the Pārijāta tree did he pull up. To Aniruddha he entrusted it. 'In Satyabhāma's courtyard plant thou it'.
- 774. What can be said of Bhagavān's illusive power of delusion? To that same spot where to Kṛṣṇa Indra had proffered worship, did Indra come to wage a war with him.

Aniruddha was Pradyumna's son, and Kṛṣṇa's and Rukmiṇi's grandson. The Pārijāta, or coral tree, was one of the five trees of Paradise produced at the churning of the ocean. It was a valued possession of Indra.

- 775. For the Pārijāta tree to fight he issued forth, but against Bhagavān what resource had he? And so disgrace was all the fruit that came from this to Indra.
- 776. From heaven's region Kṛṣṇa to the earth descended, and in the city of Dvārakā high festival arose, so thus in each city came high festival.
- 777. To Satyabhāmā's courtyard came the Pārijāta. Its floods of fragrance reached to every door. Thus did Vaikuṇṭha, Viṣṇu's heaven, there became manifest, and wherefore should that not be so?
- . 778. All at one time the damsels did he wed. Thousands sixteen and eke a hundred were they, and at the same instant came they all to be espoused.
- 779. As many as the damsels were, so many forms took Kṛṣṇa, and at one wedding did he espouse them all. At the worship of the gods did all the gods present themselves.
- 780. Each damsel had for herself a house apart, each had a Kṛṣṇa separate to herself, and all engagèd were in doing to him service.
- 781. Though thus to him were sixteen thousand damsels wedded, yet was he also Brahma the Supreme, in the form of a youth bound celibate by perpetual vows; and to his nature as a celibate do I offer myself in sacrifice.
- 782. From dawn to eve (is each one lovingly employed), from dawn doth each herself devote to her especial service. At aught that can be said need no one marvel.
- 783. About these lovely damsels how can all be told! How great was the happy fortune that they found! Even when Mahādēva¹ saw them, with desire was he filled.
- 784. To Kṛṣṇa's chaste celibacy be reverence. To his spouses of high fortune be there reverence. To all his household reverence be paid.

- 789. Pradyumna's son was Aniruddha, and he the demon Bāṇa did o'ercome, and to him Bāṇa did his daughter give.
- 790. Bāṇa a devotee of Mahādēva was. Śōṇitapura did he rule as king. Among the devotees of Mahādēva he was great.
- 791. A thousand arms had he; great was his might. Kṛṣṇa his arms did one and all cut off. Great was the pride with which he held his sway.
- 792. To Śiva-Mahādēva great devotion did he show. Śiva showed grace to him, and from the god a boon he craved. 'For my city be thou alone the guardian of my fort.'
- 793. Loyal to his devotion Siva became and stayed the guardian of the city's fort, while Bāṇa worshipped him without surcease.

- 794. Long in that city did Mahādēva dwell, doing all Bāṇa's works, while Bāṇa ruled as king.
- 795. Once on a day from the god he craved (another) boon, 'In the three worlds there is no soul my match. Let someone now my peer in combat he.'
- 796. Anger in Iśwara ¹ arose, and a boon he granted. Well knew he 'Now hath destruction to the demon come.' And so to him he gave the boon he craved.
- 797. Quoth he 'In thy courtyard shall fall the flag, and a hero shall lower thy haughty pride. Wait thou until the time thy flag shall fall.'
- 798. Dulled became the demon's understanding. For the falling of the flag did he begin to long, that he might meet a hero mightier than himself.
- 799. When to the demon came his time, how did destruction hap of itself on him? From what direction did Krsna on him fall?
- 800. The demon had a daughter Uṣā hight, and one day came to her Aniruddha in a dream. Smitten with love for him did she become.
- 801. At dawn uprose she, and weeping did she cry, 'Alas, my Lord, Ah whither hast thou gone?' 'Shame' to her did they cry, but no whit heeded she.
- 802. Of her dream of the night did she begin to tell, 'My soul hath he carried off, and I have no resource.' Thus, ever night and day she wept.

¹ A "Gandharva marriage" is a perfectly legal form of marriage among persons of the military caste, i.e., keatriyas. It is a marriage proceeding entirely from mutual attraction, and is performed without ceremonies and without consulting relatives. In fact it closely corresponds to the 'Scotch marriage' of English

- 804. And when she came to seeing Aniruddha's portrait, 'Tis he'. she cried, 'who hath carried off my soul. If he come to me, I live; if not, I die.'
- 805. To Aniruddha Citralëkhā hied. Through the welkin did she fly, and Dvārakā she reached; and, as she arrived, near Aniruddha did she alight.
- 806. In a dream also had Uṣā come to him, and he to Nārada had told the tale. Thus Nārada had tidings of (where) Aniruddha (went).
- 807. When Citralēkhā thus accosted him, together through the welkin flew they off, and to Uṣā did Aniruddha come, and so espoused her.
- 808. There a Gandharva spousal with her did he make, and in each other's arms the consorts sported. Thus for a space of months did they in bliss abide.
- 809. Bāṇa's retainers to their master came and told him how in a man's company Uṣā had been seen. Then, when the demon heard it, he was filled with wrath.
- 810. Once on a day within her palace was she seated, and with each other were the spouses sporting, when the demon chanced to see them, and on the watch did he remain.
- 811. Sword in hand the palace did he enter. Stealthily approaching in mistrust he stood, and his gaze fell on them as caupār² they played.
- 812. To Uṣā Aniruddha swore by Kṛṣṇa's name, 'All thy men will I capture, and leave none to thee,' while Uṣā taking Bāṇa's name made oath (that she would capture Aniruddha's men).

² The god of war and son of Mahādēva. ³ Kṛṣṇa's charioteer.

⁴ According to one legend Śōṇitapura was near the present Tezpur in Assam. 174

- 813. Bāṇa rejoiced on hearing Kṛṣṇa's name, 'Verily of lineage high hath come to me a son-in-law.' Then somewhat of shame he felt and waxed wroth.
- 814. Hastily in sudden rage rose he, and to his demon henchmen gave command that Aniruddha straight they place in bonds.
- 815. Till they attempted Aniruddha so to bind, fearless he sat awaiting them. Then he arose and the whole army slew.
- 816. But Bāṇa came himself, and with knots surrounded him. How could Aniruddha, the son-in-law, oppose him? So into prison him did Bāna thrust.
- 817. Then went the holy Nārada to Kṛṣṇa, and Aniruddha's tidings told he all. Then, in the love he bare his son, did Kṛṣṇa sally forth to war.
- 818. Twelve mighty armies Kṛṣṇa with him took. To Śōṇitapura straight came Bhagavān, and to the combat Bāṇa issued forth.
- 819. First, in the van, set he (Mahādēva) the guardian of his fort, and Mahādēva against Kṛṣṇa came, while to oppose Balabhadra there came two viziers.¹
- 820. To oppose Pradyumna Kārttikēya ² came, and against Sātyaki ³ Bāṇa came himself. And so in battle they began to join.
- 821. Kṛṣṇa and Mahādēva joined in fight. In single combat each encountered other, nor can words tell the tale. With endless wile and endless might did they contend.
- 822. Then over Kṛṣṇa's army Mahādēva burning fever flung, 4 and Kṛṣṇa in retort flung chilling ague. E'er since that day hath burning fever and hath chill ague been amidst mankind.

Assam is a very feverish country. The present legend is therefore interesting, and seems to rest on a tradition of some epidemic of fever entering India proper from Assam.

- 823. High praise be offered unto Kṛṣṇa's name. The troops of Rudra ¹ fled and were discomfited. The viziers twain fell to be slain by Balabhadra.
- 824. Then against Kṛṣṇa Bāṇa came himself, holding five hundred weapons in his thousand arms, and with a single arrow Kṛṣṇa broke them all.
- 825. The charioteer he slew and the chariot shattered, and with all speed Bāṇa did running flee afoot. Then forth came Bāṇa's mother with bared head to Kṛṣṇa.
- 826. Then for his devotee waxed Mahādēva wroth, and again with Kṛṣṇa did he the issue join. But naught could he prevail, and (in the end) on Kṛṣṇa's mercy did he cast himself.
- 827. Bana once more the combat to renew came forth, but Kṛṣṇa cut off all his thousand arms, save that, at Mahādēva's prayer, he left him four.
- 828. And now to Mahādēva Kṛṣṇa saith, 'My promise to his grandsire ² must I keep, for (in his day) Prahlāda was the only devotee of Visnu.
- 829. 'With my own tongue to Prahlāda a promise did I give that I his family should ne'er destroy. This Bāṇa's arms alone have I cut off, and his pride have I brought low.'
- 830. Mahādēva made Bāṇa fall at Kṛṣṇa's feet, and Bāṇa bringing Aniruddha to him came. Then all the wedding rites did he perform and duly to him did his daughter give.
- 831. Vast dower of gold and pearls and jewels gave he him, and with him sent an army all complete, when Kṛṣṇa his daughter-in law and grandson homeward led.
- 2 Bāṇa was really great grandson of Prahlāda. The line of descent was Prahlāda, Virōcana, Bali, Bāṇa.

- 832. At Dvārakā when they arrived, they all rejoiced, that Aniruddha after four months had thus returned, and into the home of Rukmint entered her grandson's bride.
- 833. In Dvārakā began high festival, and all the Yādavas their gratulations made. Reverence offer ye to Krsna's name.
- 834. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣnu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XXXVIII. THE STORY OF NRGA. (Bhag. Pu. X, lxiv.)

- 835. Once on a day when the lads went out to play,—the boys of Kṛṣṇa and of the Yādavas together,—thirsty did they become, and water to seek went they.
- 836. For water went they to a certain well, and in that well a lizard they descried. Then from the well tried they to lift it out.
- 837. Huge was that lizard, and of pond'rous weight, and none of them had strength to lift it out. Astonied were they and returned home.
- 838. To Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān came they and told the tale, and he himself went straightway to the well, and with his left hand, as though it were but some flower, the lizard did uplift.
- 839. When from the well the lizard thus emerged, a king's form took he and at Kṛṣṇa's feet he fell. Kṛṣṇa then asked him for his tale, although he knew it all.
- 840. To tell his former deeds thus did the king begin. Quoth he, 'King Nrga was I hight, and all my time I spent in gifts of charity.

- 841. 'In the season of rains for sooth the rain-drops one may count, but none could count the number of my gifts. Lo, as the fruit of that hast thou to me revealed thyself this day.
- 842. 'Mid all who in this world were known as generous, high o'er them all went forth abroad my name. In heaven itself my glory they extolled.
- 843. 'In mighty largess gave I countless cows, with gold and pearls and housings all adorned, and to my worship holy Brāhmaṇas did I call.
- 844. 'Once on a day as largess I bestowed, amongst my own kine that I gave away, the milch-cow of a certain Brāhmaṇa unwittingly was by me in gift bestowed.
- 845. 'To the Brāhmaṇa to whom I gave it came its owner seeking it, and seized the milch-cow saying 'twas his own. Then quoth the other, —he to whom I gave it, "As largess from the king received I it."
- 846. 'Both came before me, each 'gainst each his claim, and for the one cow sought I a hundred thousand kine to give; but assent neither yielded. What could I do for whom?
- 847. 'A Brāhmaṇa's wrath can never be explained. In no way could the quarrel o'er the cow be settled, and in the meantime came my time to die.
- 848. 'To weigh my deeds Yama came forth to meet me. Unnumbered merits gained I for my gifts, but against them was written the sin of the milch-cow.
- 849. 'Quoth he to me, "Ne'er can be cut from thee the happy fruit of all thy pious deeds. When wouldst thou reap the fruit of this small sin?" I asked that I might reap it first of all.
- 850. 'By Yama's just decree to earth I fell, and in this body the fruit of that little sin I reaped. Now, by beholding thee, my sin away hath passed.'

XXXIX. BALARĀMA VISITS GŌKULA (Bhāg. Pu. X, IXV.)

- 855. Once on a day it entered Kṛṣṇa's heart, 'Fain would I news of Nanda hear, and learn if there they still in sorrow dwell.
- 856. So Haladhara-Rāma to Gōkula he sent, and to give solace to them of his foster-father's house did he set forth. So at the mother's and the foster-father's feet himself did he prostrate.
- 857. Him did the twain embrace and fondly kiss. Their pent up love was loosed and they wept, while at the sight of Rāma they rejoiced.
- 858. Of Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān they tidings asked, 'Us does he ever call into his mind? His boyish sports of here doth he remember?'
- 859. Came the herd-damsels all in troops and troops. Weeping, themselves to him they dedicated, as Haladhara comforted them all.

 - XL. PUŅŅARĪKA THE ANTI-KŖŅĀ. THE WAR WITH KĀŚĪ. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxvi.)
- 867. In those days was there a king hight Pundarika 1, who took the form of Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān, and in that very case the instincts of a demon came to him.
- 868. A message thus to Kṛṣṇa did he send, 'Lo, I am Kṛṣṇa. Who, I ask, art thou? 'Tis I alone who have become incarnate.

- 869. 'Either do thou give up the name of Kṛṣṇa, or else thy pride of self will I bring down.' At this did Kṛṣṇa and the Yādavas outright laugh.
- 870. Kṛṣṇa arose and on his chariot mounted. Straightway he came and on his city fell. This Puṇḍarīka heard and issued forth to fight.
- 871. The Kāśī king was Puṇḍarīka's friend. Thither did he his army bring complete, and face to face come Kṛṣṇa to oppose.
- 872. Then with his discus Kṛṣṇa slew them all, and first he cut off Pundarika's head. Thereafter all his troops did he destroy
- 873. Then cut he off the head of Kāśi's king. Up in the air it shot and down in Kāśī dropped. Grief seized his household when they saw it fall.
- 874. Kṛṣṇa returnèd home to Dvārakā. On him the gods a rain of flowers poured. To Kṛṣṇa's might I dedicate myself.
- 875. The king of Kāśi's son, Sudakṣiṇa, become infuriate at his father's death, sought for a plan to compass Kṛṣṇa's fall.
- 876. On Mahādēva's mercy did he throw himself, and with austerities began he to do homage to the Lord of the Universe, for to grant boons is of the essence of the Lord.
- 877. To him did the Lord become gracious, and to be used with muttered prayer a spell he taught him. Then he with singleness of purpose to mutter it began.
- 878. Now of the spell this verily the harvest was, a Form like fire into being came, and to that image thus he gave command:—

- 879. Quoth he, 'To Dvārakā make thou thy way, and with its people Dvārakā consume.' Straightway to Dvārakā it speeded forth.
- 880. Dvārakā did it beleaguer, and, aquake, the Yādavas with Krsna refuge sought, and 'save us, save us' piteously they cried.
- 881. To Sudarsana, his discus, did he give command, and, like a hundred thousand suns, it took its course. Then came the Image the discus to besiege.
- 882. But what avail had he against Sudarsana? The Image of fire itself began to be consumed, and, fleeing, to Sudaksina returned.
- 883. On its return Sudakṣiṇa's head did it cut off. Why did the Image thus lay low its own creator? How was it meet that thus it should have acted?
- 884. (And for this cause), the discus to the palace gate did it pursue, and with the whole city did the gate with fire consume. Kāśī became thus utterly destroyed.

- 888. There did a certain monkey him approach, an ally of the demon Bhauma, 1 Dvivida hight.
- 889. For Bhauma's sake a poisoned hate he had stored up, and in his madness forth the poison did he pour. At Haladhara charging did he run.
- 890. Rocks did he bring and trees he hurled at him, but Balabhadra² close to him advanced. Then up he rose and with a hand-twist his life-breath wrenched he out.

XLII. THE RAPE OF LAKSMANA. (Bhag. Pu. X, lxviii.)

- 893. Duryōdhana, the Kuru's king, a daughter had.³ She became marriage-ripe, and they prepared the rites of a svayahvara ⁴ to hold.
- 894. Sāmba, Kṛṣṇa's son, desired her. Into the svayamvara gathering he rushed, and from the midst the damsel carried off.
- 895. Then all the Kauravas with wrath were filled, up they arose and hotly they pursued. Sāmba, alone, could not prevail against them.
- 896. Him did they seize and into prison cast. Helpless he was. Despitefully they used him. So Nārada the news to Kṛṣṇa brought.

 ³ Her name is not mentioned here, but according to the Bhāgavata Purāna it was Lakemanā.
 4 For a svayamvara, see note to verse 709.

- 897. Uprose the Yādavas for a Kuru war, but Haladhara Rāma held them back. 'With kith and kin how can we hostile be?'
- 898. With Uddhava then set he forth. 'Sāmba will I release, and then return'. As he too felt the claims of brotherhood, Kṛṣṇa to this with heart and soul agreed.
- 899. To Delhi city hastened Haladhara, and from without by Uddhava a message sent. When him they saw, the Kauravas rejoiced.
- 900. All to meet Balabhadra issued forth. Then, when they learned that he himself had come to make his supplication (for the damsel), with all due courtesy they led him in.
- 901. Then came Haladhara Rāma his tidings to deliver. 'Thus hath King Ugrasēna given command, "give ye the maid to Sāmba as his spouse"'.
- 902. As they with exultation had been filled that Haladhara's self had come to supplicate, so, when they heard his message, were they grieved.
- 903 At mention of Ugrasēna waxed they wroth, 'Who to the Yādavas hath given the title "king"? Yādavas is it that to ask the maid presume?
- 904. 'At all times have the Kauravas monarchs been. O'er kings the Kauravas precedence take. How dare the Yādavas with tus their pride to match?'
- 905. With them did Haladhara Rāma seek to reason. 'Above all gods doth Kṛṣṇa reign supreme, yet doth he to Ugrasēna homage pay.'
- 906. 'In these times than he what king can greater be, to whom Bhagavān himself doth homage pay; and therefore, prithee, show not such self-conceit.'

- 907. At Ugrasēna's name to howl did they begin. 'What right hath he to issue thus commands? 'Tis our command he would do well to follow'
- 908. Then Balabhadra waxed exceeding worth. Raging from the assembly went he forth, and his own ways began to them to show.
- 909. Grasping his plough, the city to upturn did he begin, as though destruction utter menaced it, and all in terror's turmoil fell dismayed.
- , 910. When Haladhara Rāma's wrath they saw, how in the twinkling of an eye he would upturn them, then came they forth and at his feet they fell.
- 911. 'Through ignorance it was not known to us. Mighty art thou, we pray for thy forgiveness.' The maid and Sāmba then they brought to him.
- 912. Humbly of him did they entreaty make. Espousals made they, and the maid they gave, adornments with her gave they out of count.
- 913. Fierce elephants bestowed they thousands twelve, chariots six thousand, twenty thousand horses, thousand of handmaids all adorned they gave.
- 914. Diamonds gave they, nor can the tale be told; loads gave they,—loads of gold and silver. So Kṛṣṇa's daughter-in-law did Haladhara bring.
- 915. To Haladhara Rāma reverence! And to his victory reverence be paid. To the men of those days be reverence paid!
- 916. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XLIII. NARADA'S VISIT. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxix.)

- 918. Once to the thought of Nārada it came, 'In Dvārakā fain would I Kṛṣṇa see; how hath he, being one, wedded sixteen thousand wives?
- 919. 'Which wife of them his best beloved is? Which among all takes place as chiefest queen, and what may be the deeds of Bhagavān?'
- 920. First set he himself Rukmin to observe. Who can rehearse the glory of her home, a radiant palace was it all of gold.
- 921. Windows and doors of crystal in each doorway, with diamonds and with jewels all inlaid, while on each lampstand stood a jewelled lamp.
- 922. Rubies and sapphires on the painted ceiling, as though upon the thatch were flying doves, and on each roof were peacocks dancing.
- 923. Of the home-altar what can I set forth? With diamonds and with rubies was it incrusted, and from it hung in bunches pearls like moons.
- 924. Here was diffused the Pārijāta's 1 scent, from place to place there wasted odours sweet. What kind of couch for Bhagavān was meet!
- 925. The couch's coverlet celestial how can I describe! On it doth Bhagavān in beauty sit, with a tiara beauteous on his head.

² Nārada was the minstrel of the gods.

- 926. On his brow there blazeth forth a sacred mark of sandal, and his earrings, large and small, pour forth sheen as of the moon. Long are his eyes, and shaped like lotus leaves.
- 927. All glorious from his neck there pendent hangeth a string of pearls, and on his lotus-face there is a beauteous smile. Before his lotus-feet as offerings the pupils of mine eyes I humbly lay.
- 928. All around stand hundreds of maid-servants all adorned, and before him doth Rukminī wave a fan. Lo, he it is to whom Rukminī herself doth service tender.
- 929. Like unto the moon glorious is Rukmin, Mōhini herself is she, and her fairness how may I rehearse! To what may I compare Lakṣmī the energic power of Bhagavān!
- 930. Nārada, as he gazed, enraptured stood, but Kṛṣṇa, when he saw him rose and as was fitting grasped the Brāhmaṇa's feet with reverence due.
- 931. Upon a chair he seated him, and washed his feet. Then on his own head placed he the water hallowed by a Brāhman's sole, and with all reverence news of welfare asked.
- 932. Sweet food and drink of varied kinds he laid before him, the while himself he served him with the fly-whisk, and, with kindly words, invited him to cast a gracious glance on him.
- 933. 'Through thy Brāhmana-hood with knowledge art thou filled, By this thy visit hast thou fulfilled all desires of mine. Thy blessing give, I pray thee, to this house and all that dwell therein.
- 934. To Kṛṣṇa did Nārada sing ² a hymn of praise. Then, after a blessing, alone did he depart, but Kṛṣṇa followed after him.
- 935. Another house did Nārada enter that he might see it. The first did it exceed in excellence, how may I rehearse its marvels. There found he Satyabhāmā, and with her Kṛṣṇa.³
- 3 The point is that Kṛṣṇa multiplied himself, so that each of his sixteen thousand wives thought that she had him to herself. In the meantime, Kṛṣṇa was also following Nārada on his visit of inspection, and amusing himself with his amazement.

- 936. Who can count the moon-rays that poured forth from her as she reclined upon the couch? Playing caupār [a kind of backgammon] sat the happy spouses. Impassioned became he as he gazed upon the scene.
- 937. Kṛṣṇa saw Nārada, and at his feet he bowed. Cried he, 'But a poor rustic householder am I. Thy forgiveness would I crave [for any lack of courtesy.] When didst thou come? How didst thou bring me to thy memory?
- 638. 'Stay, prithee, but a moment, and join me in this game, for, verily, thy help I need, lest Satyabhāmā conquer me; and after that let us gently hold a discourse brief 1.'
- 939. Nārada hasted on his way with speed, and from palace door to palace door he wandered. Lo, in each abode there was a queen with Kṛṣṇa.
- 940. In each venue was Kṛṣṇa occupied in some different matter; each room was like Vaikuṇṭha, Viṣṇu's heaven; in each were Kṛṣṇa's children, wife, and retinue.
- 941. In one abode he found him playing with the children, sportively battling with them, now behind and now before; for dearly doth he love a frolic with the bairns.
- 942. In another was he seated on a throne, in another the urchins was he bathing, in yet another did a queen massage his feet.
- 943. Here was Kṛṣṇa rapt in meditation and uttering muttered prayers; there was he offering a burnt sacrifice; and elsewhere was he busy feeding Brāhmaṇas.
- 944. Here of milch-kine was he making gifts to holy men; there was he listening to tales of olden time; and elsewhere was he holding deep discussion with the learned.
- 945. Here was he largess in charity dispensing; there was he listening to the budget of his wealth; and elsewhere was he his coined money counting.

- 958. Elsewhere his brother (Balabhadra) was he instructing; 'At our hand may all be filled with bliss,' and may his mercy come thus to the land of Kashmir!
- •959. In Kashmīr, too, may there be victory for virtue; of the Brāhmaṇas may the puissance of their virtue be enhanced, and, full of bliss, devoted to Krsna's name may they become!
- 960. Thus were the sixteen thousand sports of Kṛṣṇa seen by Nārada as through the sixteen thousand palaces he roamed, and so the whole of Viṣṇu's magic power began he to perceive.
- 961. Wandering and wandering from hall to hall, Nārada, at length became a-wearied. Before the feet of Kṛṣṇa in homage did he cast himself.
- 962. On Kṛṣṇa's lotus foot he laid his head, and so remained, and, crying 'To Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān myself I dedicate,' hymns in varied measures did he begin to sing.
- 963. 'To each of his many forms myself I dedicate; to each of his many names myself I dedicate. May he, perchance, at some time on poor weak me his grace bestow'.
- 964. Loving devotion of many kinds did Nārada display. With desire began he his lute to strike, rejoicing as he gazed and gazed on Kṛṣṇa.
- 965. Kṛṣṇa, the Mighty God, then cast on him a smile. Pleased at his words, he granted him the boon. So, taking his 'eave to Viṣṇu's heaven did Nārada return.

- 966. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 967. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, to him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

XLIV. A DAY IN KRŞŅA'S LIFE. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxx.)

- 968. Ever in his daily rites engrossed is Kṛṣṇa. Taking his guards he goeth on his rounds inspecting. In each house doth he rise up early for his duty.
- 969. (First) seateth he himself in meditation, for Yōgêśvara is he,—himself the essence of all Yōga,—and for the last watch of the night abideth he in deepest contemplation wrapt.
- 970. At the propitious moment on the nick of dawn, as their sweet voices carol forth the birds, and from the Pārijāta tree the Wind his breezes wafts.
- 971. Kṛṣṇa ariseth, to the river-bank descendeth, and at the bathing Ghāṭ with hallowed rite his body doth he lave, as duly the morning prayer and libation he doth make.
- 972. By daytime Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān the courtyard entereth. Upon a chair himself he seateth with his legs at ease 1, and the barber cometh to show to him the mirror.
- 973. His body then with oil did they anoint, with water of fragrant herbs did they wash him, and with a scented towel wiped they him.
- 974. (His chapel) next he entereth, and to the idol doth he worship pay. The holy Gāyatrī he muttereth and maketh his oblations, then to the Brāhmanas giveth he milch-kine in benefaction.

- 975. To each Brāhmana giveth he food and maketh largess. Then folding his hands from them a blessing doth he crave, and to him do they say, 'May thy life be long and prosperous'.
- 976. Sandal and aloe-wood they bring to him, first to the Brāhmaṇas and afterward to himself doth he apply them, and then his outer clock he doeth on.
- 977. To each Brāhmaṇa offereth he a roll of betel-leaf. This take the Brāhmaṇas and give to him their blessings, and with these blessings in his ears he entereth the palace.
- 978. The ladies of his household bring to him a mirror. 'Why,' say they, 'should not the god of love gaze on himself alone (and not on us)? Relish will he gain as he looketh in the mirror.'
- 979. Food of divers kinds they bring him,—sweet and acid, fruits and roots of divers kinds. All the maidservants are busy in his service.
- 980. His queen stands up and fans him, bringing content to Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān. In her own duty standeth each one (ready).
- 981. Bards proclaim his glory at each gate. Discourse of Kṛṣṇa's deeds do they set up. Countless is the wealth he sendeth them (in reward).
- 982. To all the knights who come to the palace gate, he sendeth betel-rolls; to the commonalty and to them of lowly caste he sendeth salutations.
- 983. Thereafter, from each house he goeth forth to stroll. At the outer gate he may be but a man alone, yet still, like the sun, he showeth mercy on the city.
- 984. The charioteer bringeth up his chariot caparisoned and studded all with jewels. Handsome and well-trained horses display their fiery natures.

- 985. The charioteer graspeth his hand and the chariot doth he mount; and from it Kṛṣṇa poureth, as it were, rays of moonlight, while behind him, wielding his fly-whisk standeth Uddhava.
- 986. Gently gently doth he drive the chariot, as on each roof-top every woman cometh forth to see him. In ravished exultation do all offer their lives as a sacrifice to him.
- 987. Before him, as he goeth on, the bards are singing. As he reacheth the hall of audience majesty and prowess from him stream. To his prowess and his glory mine own head do in sacrifice I offer.
- 988. As on the throne he sitteth in the hall of audience, each Yādava prostrates himself before his feet. Great kings come and bow all in reverence.
- 989. With each other vying, chaunteth the whole choir of singers. The buffoons with their merry antics come to raise his laughter, that he who is ever full of quips may join in quips.
- 990. Thereafter cometh a learned man and sitteth on a seat of honour. A bulky tome doth he produce, and ordereth them to worship it, while he himself to Vyāsa ¹ offereth homage.
- 991. The learned man beginneth to read aloud the Purāṇas, while Kṛṣṇa lendeth an attentive ear,—[not that he doth not know all knowledge, but] because to those devoted to him beareth he tenderest love.
- 992. To each suppliant that cometh to him with a petition, granteth he wealth, chariots, and horses. Sometime goeth he forth to stroll, and sometime to the hunt.
- 993. He who beareth in his heart the name of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 994. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, to him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

¹ For the account of Jarasandha's combat with Kṛṣṇa, see verses 550ff.

² A Rājasūya is a coronation sacrifice performed by a universal monarch, and attended by tributary princes in token of his admitted sovereignty. The five Pāṇḍava princes were Yudhiṣṭhira, Bhīma(sēna), Arjuna, Nakula, and Sahadēva.

- XLV. THE DEATH OF JARASANDHA. (Bhag. Pu. X, lxx-lxxiii.)
- 995. Once on a day was Kṛṣṇa joyfully seated in the hall of audience, when announced they to him that at the gate were a thousand people, lying as though fainting in their woe.
- 996. One of them called he to him, and courteously made question. 'Wherefore hast thou come to tell a tale of woe?'
- 997. Then to him they said, 'Bound fast in prison are all our kings. By Jarāsandha have they all been seized'; and with the assembled courtiers cried they for protection.
- 998. Quoth they, 'Twenty thousand and eight hundred hath he imprisoned; each one of us hath separately come to tell the tale.' And Kṛṣṇa as he heard them heaved a sigh.
- 999. Quoth they, 'a demon is he, and of self-pride full. Saith he "Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān put I once to flight." Forsooth, forgetteth he that before thee seventeen times he fled.' 1
- 1000. Just at that moment Nārada arrived, and to meet him Krsna rose and with his hands the Brāhmaṇa's feet he clasped.
- 1001. Quoth Nārada 'Upon a sacrifice are the Pāṇdavas engaged and preparations make they for a Rājasūya.² Body and soul (with longing eyes), watch they all the way by which thou mayest come.
- 1002. 'Their longing and their trust in thee shouldst thou fulfil, for great is the hope in thee in which they live, and in this mighty hope this message have they sent by me.'
- 1003. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxxi.) Then of the assembled courtiers Kṛṣṇa asked, 'Twain be the cases to the which I now am called. To which of these first should I set myself?' Then Uddhava straightway counsel gave, 'First to the sacrifice.'

They lived at Indraprastha, near the modern Delhi, and were first cousins (Kuntī, their mother, being his father's sister) and close friends of Kṛṣṇa. Their chief enemy was their cousin Duryōdhana. It was Yudhisthira, the eldest of the Pāṇḍavas who claimed universal monarchy.

- 1004. A message of solace sent he to the imprisoned kings. 'First must I haste to Delhi—such be the counsel given,—and taking that as my excuse, to Magadha will I wend my way.'
- 1005. So all the imprisoned kings watched the roads (waiting in patience for his promised help), and to them now their dungeons seemed like heaven. 'Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān,' they cried, 'is now our certain prop.'
- 1006. So Kṛṣṇa then his retinue equipped, and with his whole train set forth in answer to the invitation of the king, leaving his brother Balabhadra in charge of Dvārakā.
- 1007. (Of the ladies of the court) resplendent shone the golden palankeens. In front and eke in rear marched out the wand-bearers two and two. Good luck indeed had all these wedded ladies who to the festival set forth.
- 1008. Cavalry, hundreds of thousands, curveted and pranced, chariots and elephants in thousands passed in front, and from his own chariot Kṛṣṇa scattered money as he went.
- 1009. Double-drums, hautboys, kettledrums sounding, clarions and conches blaring, with his children and his wives, Kṛṣṇa to the sacrifice marched out.
- 1010. Along the road all men hastened out to watch. At the mere vision every wish of their hearts was as it were fulfilled. Let reverence meet be paid to their good fortune.
- 1011. At the royal city Kṛṣṇa in due course arrived, and barefoot came out the five Pāṇḍavas to meet him, rubbing their foreheads on each of his footprints on the road.
- 1012. Of his elders did he grasp the feet, but Arjuna, he grasped in an embrace, while at his feet fell Nakula and Sahadēva.
- 1013. After Yudhisthira came all the citizens, running in their great love for Kṛṣṇa, and he in graciousness gave solace to them all.

¹ The word ālath means a certain ceremony of adoration, in which a platter, containing a five-wicked lamp, flour, water and incense, is waved round the head of an idol or honoured guest.

² Kunti, the mother of the Pāṇdavas, was a sister of Kṛṣṇa's father, Vasudēva.

- 1014. As, in their progress, to the palace gate they came, at every step uncounted gifts were offered to him and myriads of people censered him.¹
- 1015. He entered the royal palace, and first approached his father's sister. Mother Kuntl² him embraced, but he first reverently grasped her feet.
- 1016. Then to greet her advanced her brother's daughters-in-law.³ They all fell at the feet of their father-in-law's sister,⁴ and as she saw them, heart and soul she blossomed out.
- 1017. Draupadi ⁵ fell at Kṛṣṇa's feet, and eke Subhadrā ⁶ at the feet of her brother and of her brother's wives. Then all the Pāṇḍavas did him reverence.
- 1018. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxxii.) Then, according to due rule, began they to make the preparations for the sacrifice. Yudhisthira's four brothers to the four quarters of the earth went forth to seek for victory, and home returned with kings and plundered wealth.
- 1019. In confession of Yudhisthira's victories all the kings attended, —(all except one)—for against Jarāsandha should no king prevail; and so between themselves against him for a device they sought.
- 1020. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxxii.) To Uddhava came there counsel to outwit him, and Kṛṣṇa, Bhīmasēna and Arjuna put on Brāhmaṇa dress, and forth went they for his ensnaring.
- 1021. In Brāhmana guise did Jarāsandha see them. He paid them reverence, and they asked of him a gift. They took the promise them a boon to grant, and only then plainly did they speak.
- 1022. The boon they asked was this, that he with one of three, whom he might choose, with Kṛṣṇa, Arjuna, or with Bhīmasēna, should in a bout of wrestling strive.

¹ Kṛṣṇa tore the branch of a tree in twain. Bhīma took the hint, and did the same to Jarāsandha.

- 1023. Quoth he, 'Arjuna in battle will not stand. Kṛṣṇa have I made to flee to Dvārakā. Now will I play a hand with Bhīmasēna.'
- 1024. To the combat went forth the heroes twain; for seven and twenty days by day they fought, while anight they spent the time in laugh and sport.
- 1025. As Bhīma's strength began to flag, Kṛṣṇa did he apprize; so Kṛṣṇa seized him in his (divine) embrace, and his strength waxed great again; then, as he wrestled, Kṛṣṇa to him pointed out a trick.¹
- .1026. Under his own leg did Bhīmasēna hold his leg, and through that leg-wrench became Jarāsandha powerless. Then in two halves did Bhīmasēna rend him, and so tore out his life.
- 1027. When Jarāsandha thus was slain, his son, Sahadēva² hight, at Kṛṣṇa's feet did fall, and to him all his father's kingdom gave.
- 1028. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxxiii.) First went Kṛṣṇa to the prison-house, where were confined the twenty thousand and eight hundred kings. Forth from the prison-house he set them free, and at his feet they fell.
- 1029. And fallen so, from him a boon they begged. 'Grant thou that we our kingdoms may renounce, and henceforth do thee service in devotion.' With a glance their boon he granted, and forthwith began they with hymns of praise to laud him.
- 1030. Then to the sacrifice with him came all the kings, body and soul in Kṛṣṇa-contemplation wrapt. Utter ye cries of glory for their happy lot.
- 1031. When with the kings at the city he arrived, the three conch blasts did they sound, and, followed by the others, Yudhisthira came forth to meet him.

² He is of course not the same as the Pāṇḍava of the same name.

Dhṛtarāṣṭra, the blind king of Hastināpura, was paternal uncle of the Pandavas. He had many sons, of whom the eldest was Duryodhana, the implacable enemy of Yudhisthira and his brothers. Bhisma, famous for his wisdom and unflinching devotion to God, had been the guardian of the Pandavas and of the Kauravas (the sons of Dhṛtarāṣṭra). In the Great War between the two sets of cousins he sided with the latter. He was not actually their grandfather, but his old age and wisdom entitled him to the appellation. Vidura was the younger

XLVI. THE CORONATION RITES. (Bhag. Pu. X, lxxiv, lxxv.)

- 1033. Yudhiṣṭhira the preparations for the sacrifice began, for now had he all kings of earth assembled. So now, from Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān he counsel asked.
- 1034. All the Brāhmaṇas he summoned, to each his own apportioned duty giving, while all his brothers watched for his commands.
- 1035. Thither came Dhṛtarāṣṭra followed by his sons, and bringing with him grandfather Bhīṣma and Vidura, and other great men of the Kauravas at the gate.
- 1036. All kings who reigned on each of the four sides of the kingdom were there. All they were filled with longing and with trust. On each one's shoulder was laid the burden of a special duty.
- 1037. The sacrificial altar began they to prepare, and with golden spades they levelled it. Then observing an auspicious moment did they the sacrifice begin.
- 1038. The seven sages ² began to recite the Svastibhadra hymn,— Kaśyapa, the lord of saints, Parāśara, Vyāsa, the lord of saints, of majesty sublime.
- 1039. Joy was (in the hearts) of all,—of Viśvāmitra, of Vāmadēva, of Gautama the Sage, and of Dhaumya (the family priest),—as they the Vēda did recite.

brother of Pāndu, and therefore uncle of the Pāndavas.

² The seven reis, or sages, are usually said to be Marīci, Atri, Angiras, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, and Vasiṣṭha. Here the author apparently means Kaśyapa, Parāśara, Vyāsa, Viśvēmitra, Vāmadēva, Gautama, and Dhaumya, all of whom were also famous sages. Perhaps, however, he means to include both sets of seven. The Bhāgavata Purāṇa gives a much longer list. The Svastibhadra hymn is the name of an auspicious text.

- 1040. Then of the whole assembly asked the king (Yudhiṣṭhira), 'Whom should we worship first, to bring success? Who first will rightly seem unparagoned of all?'
- 1041. At once stood up Sahadēva, and thus addressed the king, 'First to be worshipped is Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān; of the three worlds is he the Being Supreme.'
- 1042. So with worship to Bhagavān did they begin, next were worshipped all the sages and the gods, and thus was all the worship ritely done.
- 1043. All the great people there approved,—gods, sages, Manes of ancestors, and kings, all these approved that Kṛṣṇa should receive the worship first.
- 1044. Rājā Yudhiṣṭhira at this was with joy full filled, for that was said to him which he himself desired. So, filled with a longing great and loving trust, to worship Kṛṣṇa he began.
- 1045. Śrī Kṛṣṇa's feet did Yudhiṣṭhira wash. Then first the laving water on his head he placed, and next about the assembly-hall he sprinkled it.
- 1046. With all befitting rites performed they the worship; offerings of fruit, of flowers, of incense, and of lights made they to him; and, as was meet, with heaven-splendid garments (clothed they him).
- 1047. From on the throne Kṛṣṇa sent forth a blazing light. His smaller earrings on his ear-pendants moonlight poured, so that all glory filled the hall of sacrifice.
- 1048. At such a glorious sight were all filled with exultation; loud sang they praises of Yudhisthira, in that through him alone had such consummate fortune come to them.
- 1049. Brahmā and Śiva came down to see the spectacle, with all the gods and regents of the quarters, and the great people of the region of the gods.

- 1050. Ever dedicating myself to that manifestation of Kṛṣṇa, reverence do I pay to the happy fortune of those kings, and reverence eke to the devotion shown by them.
- 1051. But, ever since the rape of Rukmini, the evil-hearted Sisupāla had borne hate to Kṛṣṇa; nor these doings could he endure, and loud did he begin to howl.
- 1052. In those days a mighty king was he. Full of exceeding haughtiness was he, and arrogance was he ever breathing forth. Against Kṛṣṇa bore he an unending poisonous hate.
- 1053. Vehemently cried he out Kṛṣṇa's name, and on the righteous members of the assembly blame he cast. 'How is this cow-boy to be worshipped as a holy teacher?
- 1054. 'To this sacrifice Brahmā and all the other gods are come, and with them sages supreme and lords among the saints. To whom, except such, is worship to be done?'
- 1055. Whatever is not seemly on the tongue, that and that saith he anent the name of Kṛṣṇa, and wroth went the assembly as they heard his words.
- 1056. Against him all arose to kill him, but Kṛṣṇa held them back and said to them, 'Let him say everything.'
- 1057. 'Whatever be in his mind, that let him say. All that he saith concerning me is in each item true.' So they refrained, but whose heart was not in tumult tossed?
- 1058. Up to a hundred abuses against him did Sisupāla utter, and up to that hundred no word uttered Kṛṣṇa, but that same hundred was (the limit) in his mind.
- 1059. Then (when the hundred was completed), with his discus named Sudarśana, Kṛṣṇa cut off his head, and, lo, from Śiśupāla's body there issued forth a flame of brightness, and upwards, straight unto Viṣṇu's abode did it ascend.

¹ The story of the Rape of Rukmini, and of how Kṛṣṇa carried her off from Siśupāla, is told above in verses 638ff.

¹ The flame of brightness was Śiśupāla's soul, which thus attained salvation by becoming absorbed into Kṛṣṇa in his character of the Supreme Deity. The point is that continued meditation on Kṛṣṇa ensures salvation. Śiśupāla had been perpetually thinking of Kṛṣṇa, and the fact that this meditation was born of hate

- 1060. Thence came it back to Kṛṣṇa, and into his lotus-mouth it entered, and with amazement was the assembly filled.¹
- 1061. To each man present Brahmā saith, 'Behold ye the fruit of hating Kṛṣṇa. (If that be so great), of devoted love how great must be the fruit!
- 1062. 'He, also, all his life, since on the score of Rukmini he had been put to shame, the memory of Kṛṣṇa had been keeping; and the fruit of remembering, even though 'twas rankling, hath to him been given.
- 1063. 'Such was the fruit of keeping him in memory with hatred. Hence shalt thou thyself know the fruit by those devoted to him gained. Reverence be to the devotion of his devotees!'
- 1064. With all impediments removed, to the sacrifice themselves did they apply. To each one was assigned a several duty, while each one carried Krsna in his heart.
- 1065. The king began his preparations for the sacrifice; for it all the materials were collected, and the great festival began to reach its height.
- 1066. (Bhāg. Pu. X, lxxv.) A share of duty was given to each brother,—to Arjuna, to Bhīmasēna, to Nakula, and to Sahadēva;
- 1067. To each son of Draupadi, to each king who acted as a servant,—to each was given his allotted task.
- 1068. The cooking of the food was Bhīma's charge; Duryōdhana's the treasure-house control; of rites of worship had Nakula and Sahadēva charge.

and entirely that of an enemy, but was still meditation of a sort on Kṛṣṇa, thus produced salvation. In the next verse Brahmā points this out, and argues that if this be the result of enmity, how great must be the bliss of salvation resulting from meditation in love.

- 1075. Reverence be to Sudāman, the faithful devotee of Kṛṣṇa; to Mother Suśilā, his wife be reverence; reverence be to their adoring faith.
- 1076. Greatly devoted to Kṛṣṇa became Sudāman. (In boyhood) Kṛṣṇa was wont to play with him in bosom friendship, and from his schooldays knew him as his friend.
- 1077. When first Kṛṣṇa before Kamsa's court arrived, to him with flower-garlands Sudāman¹ came, and to him Kṛṣṇa gave the boons of worldly bliss and ultimate salvation.

- 1085. Arrived at the forest wandered about they all, and to collect kindling-wood and sticks began; and Sudāman also for Kṛṣṇa brought a share.
- 1086. So far as he was able did Sudāman his own and Kṛṣṇa's share of kindling-wood collect, and when this was done the school-fellows their play began.

¹ The idea is that all Sudāman's sins in former births had necessarily to be expiated. Till this was completed, salvation was impossible to him. Kṛṣṇa, in order to secure the expiation as speedily and as completely as possible, condemned him to undergo poverty for a certain period. This would be the 'fruit' of sins in 232

- 1088. While still within the forest on the boys fell night, each had his fruit and grain for food with him, but Kṛṣṇa's was in care of that Sudāman.
- 1089. When at nightfall they all began to eat, Kṛṣṇa for his share Sudāman asked, but it had all been eaten by Sudāman.
- 1090. Cried Kṛṣṇa, 'Eaten it all thyself has thou, thou beggarly knave! What right had thou to eat it in my absence!' (And by this speech) of this devoted friend a beggar's lot the fate became.
- , 1091. But great is the belly of a Brāhmaṇa (and much food doth it demand). So Kṛṣṇa determined that such a curse must be removed, that to him there be no shortcoming of the means of life.
- 1092. 'Twas but as a pretext that these words he uttered, and then removed the curse. His object real was that all the fruits of his sins in former lives might be (at once) experienced (and so exhaust the evil that was in them). Otherwise, how could hunger and thirst be felt by Bhagavān 1?
- 1093. From that time, while Kṛṣṇa dwelt happily in Dvārakā, did Sudāman and Suśīlā live in faith and loving adoration.
- 1094. Night and day devotion did they to Viṣṇu offer, looking upon their poverty as wealth, while Suśilā did wifely service to her spouse.
- 1095. Begging here and there and never ceasing, would she to him bring the collected alms; still, (in all their poverty), in his adoring faith he never faltered, but fixed his mind on Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān.
- 1096. Until the end came of the fruit of their sins in former lives, so long with steadfastness did they experience it. When the full time came to them, then did their good fortune begin to be exalted.

former births, and would cause this fruit to be exhausted. He had to have some pretext for uttering the curse, and he took the consumption of his food as such. The poverty was to be only for a period, and after that Sudāman would enjoy worldly prosperity and ultimately gain salvation.

¹ I.e. the burden of sin, which weighed down the earth.

² Lit. No morsel descended (his gullet).

- 1097. Once on a day Suśilā up and to the Brāhmaṇa, her husband, said, 'Kṛṣṇa is Bhagavān himself incarnate, and himself to human birth hath come, the pious and the virtuous to protect.
- 1098. 'To human birth came he the burden' of the earth to lift, nor will he leave it till all the demons he hath destroyed; for such is his purpose, that the pious be protected.
- 1099. 'Now are all men in every happiness; for to them hath Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān revealed himself, and welfare is ever in the company of Kṛṣṇa.
- 1100. 'Since Kṛṣṇa hath become incarnate, all men possess felicity of every kind; curses and sins all to an end have come.
- 1101. 'How great is the love that to Kṛṣṇa we have borne! When thou wast not present he would eat no food.² How can we think that our love by him hath been forgotten?
- 1102. 'How can that be? Surely his love for us is great. Belike for us his yearning greater is than for others all, for "Compassionate to the Devoted" is a name of Bhagavān.
- 1103. 'He will have thought that to an end his curse hath come, and on us great compassion will he show. How long must we endure this lowly state?
- 1104. 'Go thou to Dvārakā and show thyself to him, and thou shalt see how Kṛṣṇa will be pleased. Then, with a single glance on his devoted one, prosperity will he bestow.'
- 1105. Sudāman in reply to her made violent reproach,³ 'Shame be upon thy woman's temper, thou, whose soul waiteth not patiently upon fate!

Lit. Caused her sudden death,—an idiomatic term for violent abuse.

- 1107. 'Save Kṛṣṇa nothing need I. If patiently thou canst not wait, then with me abide no longer. From first to last a woman lacketh steadfastness.'
- 1108. But Suśilā's fate had come unto the time of its uprisal; still saw she that her spouse was firm in his content, and so she turned her tongue, and thus addressed him:—
- 1109. Quoth she, 'Thy feet in humbleness I set upon my head; great is my happy lot in only seeing thee; and in our love for Kṛṣṇa whose fate can be compared with ours!
- 1110. 'Than thee more full am I of high content. Mayst thou live long for me,—aught else ask I not, and ever in our hearts may Kṛṣṇa's name abide.
- 1111. 'But this hath come to me,—Kṛṣṇa a human form hath taken; but many days have passed since thou hast seen him, and to what other wight should come the (rapture of) beholding him?
- 1112. 'That rapture e'en ascetics fail to gain with all their meditation and their calling him to mind, and now, behold, freely and openly to all he giveth it. They who behold him are for ever blessed.
- 1113. 'To him make thou but one visit and then home return. A vision of Kṛṣṇa is hard for thee to gain; how can thy heart remain at peace without him?'
- 1114. This way and that led she him to leap (from his inaction); and in Sudāman's heart a passionate love too arose, till in its longing for the sight of Kṛṣṇa it was like to burst.
- 1115. Quoth he, 'Fain would I go, but how may I approach him, for in a palace is his dwelling place, and what fine apparel have I that near him I may go?'

- 1116. Quoth she to him, 'Kṛṣṇa is of kingly quality, nor is there interdict to any Brāhmaṇa his palace entering. What need for thee is thought how thou shouldst look upon his face?'
- 1117. Quoth he to her, 'With what excuse can I present myself, when, hunger-stricken, somehow or other there do I arrive? And even so, is there aught of mine that I can offer to him as a present?'
- 1118. Uprose at this Suśīlā, and went out to beg. (On her return) three fistfuls of broken rice-chaff into his hand she put. These did he take and tied them in the corner of the rag that served to him for blanket.
- 1119. Hardly anywhere were the rags strong enough to hold themselves together; but natheless somehow did he tie the knot, and full of ardent love for Kṛṣṇa forth Sudāman ran.
- 1120. On the road his fancy fills him full of hopes. 'Wondrous indeed is the good turn that Suśīlā hath done for me, for now shall I easily attain to seeing Kṛṣṇa face to face!
- 1121. 'Yet unmanned is my heart within me, for how can I attain my journey's aim? With what face can I before a king present myself,—and before what a king! before a very king of kings!
- 1122. 'As a suppliant will I come, and of him something beg. (And for what shall I beg?) What greater boon is there beyond adoring faith? Of (worldly) contentment what need hath an adorer?'
- 1123. Again and again with hopes filleth he his heart. 'If I see not him, as least the gateway of his palace will I see; and there, at his gate, for his sake would I offer in sacrifice the pupils of mine eyes.
- 1124. 'Wherever be the path that Kṛṣṇa goes, there will I rub my forehead in the dust. There also shall I at least his servants see, and as I behold them will leave this earth for heavenly bliss.'
- 1125. At one stage on his journey, while his body remembereth and urgeth him on, his legs become aweary; at another, famished by hunger, no progress make his knees; but still behind him bloweth strong the wind and speedeth him up on his way.

- 1126. Somehow came he thus the city near, and in his palace Kṛṣṇa began the preparations for receiving him. 'A friend hath come to me. Beforehand go I forth to meet him.
- 1127. 'In these days is there no friend so dear as he. In this world is there no devotee like him. With throb and throb leapeth forth my heart in my yearning passionate for him.'
- 1128. Saying thus did he arise, and forth he went to meet him. His lotus feet were bare, yet swift he ran, and along after him ran Mother Rukmini.
- 1129. A great way far outside the palace met he him and lovingly embraced him. Again and again, and yet again, he pressed him to his heart.
- 1130. By his hand he took him and home to the palace led him. By Rukmini's own hand his feet in cooling water laved he, and with all courtesy upon a couch he seated him.
- 1131. Delicious food and drink of varied kinds he brought, and, (after eating), his hands himself did Kṛṣṇa wash. Great was the honouring welcome shown to him.
- 1132. Eight of the chief queens fanned him, while Kṛṣṇa himself with the whisk the flies kept off, and servant-maids in thousands did him service.
- 1133. While he was being cherished and all his wants were being satisfied, Kṛṣṇa, as his beloved devotee he watched, in his heart rejoiced. He asks, 'How was I brought into thy mind this day?'
- 1134. Of his humble self becometh Sudāman full of shame. In himself he saith, 'Perchance he maketh some mistake. How could my wishes in their fulfilment ever soar so high?'
- 1135. But Kṛṣṇa knew his thoughts, and asked again, 'Sudāman, hast thou no memory, how in our boyhood we were wont to go out and play?

- 1144. The knot did he untie, and himself did Kṛṣṇa, taking out from it the fistfuls of rice-chaff, begin to eat. Anon, from the floor began he to pick up the rice-grains (that had fallen and lay scattered there).
- 1145. Two fistfuls into his own lotus mouth he cast, but, as the third to cast did he begin, with haste did Rukmini his hand restrain.

- 1146. The third fistful took she from his hand, and hastily into (her own) mouth cast she it; for otherwise the whole of Viṣṇu's Energic Power into Sudāman would have found its way.
- 1147. Then Kṛṣṇa to Sudāman saith, 'Ne'er have I eaten aught so good as this. Ne'er at the finest banquet such perfect flavour have I tasted.'
- 1148. Thus, the whole day till nightfall were they in their joy,—Kṛṣṇa of the Brāhmaṇa's doings asking news, patting him with his hand and stroking him in his love.
- , 1149. Unknown to Sudāman had he to go to Viśvakarman,¹ and tell him on the earth to build a second heaven; and so, at Sudāman's residence, a Viṣṇu's palace caused he to be built.
- 1150. In the one night that palace caused he to be completed, with every luxury that beseemed it, and filled was it with serving maids and men.
- 1151. Over Susilā fly-whisks all were waving; all into their hands her words were humbly taking. Beyond description was the ease and luxury.
- 1152. Whatever doth in Viṣṇu's heaven exist that also in her house was found. How can my tongue have power to sing its praises! To Bhagavan did Susilā offer herself in sacrifice.
- 1153. Wondrous, beyond telling, became Susilā's joy. To her it seemed as though in Viṣṇu's heaven an abode she found while yet alive.
- 1154. 'Twas like a dream brought out from poverty, caused by attaining everlasting bliss. But still into her heart there came no change of any kind of all her loving faith.
- 1155. At dawn Sudāman issued forth to bathe, and to ask leave of Kṛṣṇa to depart. Kṛṣṇa too bore him in mind, and himself went forth.

- 1156. There gave he to Sudāman nothing to take with him, for he watched him, and fain would see what would become the nature of the heart of his devoted one, and lest peradventure, from content it should shaken be.
- 1157. No worldly wealth to take with him he gave, for fear his heart should be corrupted, and he be shaken in his faith; and so, in peace of mind he bade farewell.
- 1158. In rapture exultant Sudāman started on his way, nor gave on his poverty a single thought. Ever and again on Kṛṣṇa meditating was he filled with joy.
- 1159. What sorrow or what trouble hath the faithful devotee of Viṣṇu? To the devotee innate is good in everything, and if he hath adoring love what be there he need ask?
- 1160. Along went he, and at his town arrived. There for his straw hut began he to make search, but, filled with amazement, in its place saw he a palace.
- 1161. To himself saith he, 'Peradventure the way have I forgotten. Whither have I come, and what this doorway? Of some great king must such a palace be.'
- 1162. He asks each person that upon the road he meets, 'should not here have been Sudāman's hut?' but no one could give him any clue, and, frightened, set he himself to run away.
- 1163. When at dawn arose Suśilā, gladdened was she by Bhagavān's gladdening, and on the Brāhmaṇa's way men did she station.
- 1164. Sudāman did they see, and at his feet they bowed. Cooling of the hot air and fanning did they all for him, and on their hands led they him to his door.
- 1165. Manifest was it to him that in Viṣṇu's heaven had he arrived, and the grace of Bhagavān became known in full to him. Then in his heart did he to Kṛṣṇa offer himself in sacrifice.

- 1166. Even while yet alive found he himself in the abode of Viṣṇu. Suśīlā, too, in happiness was like a queen. All that he needed, that was there for him.
- 1167. Sudāman was established in adoring faith; no shaking ever came into his heart, for in it were his thoughts on Kṛṣṇa firmly fixed
- 1168. They abode in happiness, (being granted) the memories of their former births. In their love for Kṛṣṇa fervently practised they devotion, the while Suśilā chastely kept the vow that she had vowed unto her husband.
- 1169. Their time came and, having won glory in this world, to their (heavenly) home did they depart. All honour be to them who had such loving faith.
- 1170. Viṣṇu's heaven itself became their home. All reverence to Bhagavān's adorers (such as they); and to the graciousness of Bhagavān be reverence.
- 1171. Who can hold back him whom Bhagavān desireth? His blessed fortune who can emulate? Hence, shouldst not thou again and again to Bhagavān offer thyself a sacrifice?
- 1172. I, Dīnanātha, the humble, have to Kṛṣṇa's feet for refuge come. Refuge have I taken, and what other contentment do I need? As a sacrifice myself I offer, and in him is my content.
- 1173. As to Sudāman favour didst Thou show, and as by Thee alone to him was given strength, and in him devotion was created; so on this strengthless one,—on me,—show Thou Thy grace.
- 1174. As on each faithful one Thy favour Thou hast shown; as on each pious man Thy favour Thou hast shown; so on this sin-filled one,—on me,—show Thou Thy grace.
- 1175. To Sudāman and to his happy fate be reverence! and eke to Mother Suśīlā be there reverence! reverence be to the devoted love they showed.

- 1176. Reverence be to Vyāsa and to Śukadēva; reverence be to all the devotees of Kṛṣṇa; reverence be to the tale of true knowledge that they tell.
- 1177. He who clingeth to the feet of Kṛṣṇa, to him will Kṛṣṇa every favour render. In this world glory will he win, and thereafter the abode of Viṣṇu will he reach. To him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.
- 1178. Ever dedicating myself to Kṛṣṇa's name, ever dedicating myself to his incarnation, ever dedicating myself to his auspicious deeds, to him posy and posy do I offer lotuses.

Here ends the Lay of the Incarnate Kṛṣṇa composed by Dinanātha the Kāshmiri.
